

Wheat Survey Ends May 1

W. M. Tate, chairman of the Marion County Agricultural Conservation Association, announces that the wheat survey which was launched four weeks ago, is progressing steadily. It is expected that the field contact work will be completed by community committeemen May 1.

Mr. Tate says that there are probably some wheat growers that the committeemen do not know about. It is desirable that all farms producing wheat in 1947, 1948 or 1949 be listed with the County Agricultural Conservation Association. The results of the wheat acreage survey will be used to determine the producers' eligibility to vote in the event that Secretary of Agriculture Brannan calls for a referendum on the 1950 wheat acreage allotment proposal. The acreage shown by the survey will be the basis for both individual and county acreage allocations in the event that a wheat acreage allotment program is proclaimed.

Mr. Tate urges all wheat growers who have not been contacted by community committeemen to make a farm acreage report immediately. This can be done by contacting a committeeman or by visiting the wheat office located adjacent to the 4-H club office in the old Salem high school building.

FFA to Entertain Labish Community

Members of the Salem Chapter, Future Farmers of America will entertain the Lake Labish community Friday night at 8 p.m.

Wayne Johnsen, newly elected president of the chapter will discuss rat control; William McKinney, instructor, will explain agriculture educational courses available at the Salem high school and Ray Girod, vice president, will deliver the FFA creed.

Walter Lottis of Salem will present an interesting reel of motion pictures followed by cowboy music and songs by members of the Salem chapter. Refreshments will be served by the Labish community ladies.
