WU Student Wins Honors As Speaker

Robert Sayre, Willamette university senior from Beaverton, Ore., was selected as the best speaker in the recent debate tournament sponsored by the West Point, N.Y., debate council at the U.S. military academy. He had the highest speaker point total of the 68 speakers involved.

The Willamette debate team of Sayre and Tom Bartlett of Salem was eliminated after having debated representative talkers from Yale, Stevens Institute of Technology, Chicago, Alabama, Augustana, Baylor, Northwestern and Louisiana.

Coached by Dr. James Kirkwood, the Willamette team won 15 tournament championships in major competition this year.

Sees Drive for State Socialism

Forrest A. Harness, former Indiana congressman, told some 200 persons who gathered in the Salem Chamber of Commerce auditorium Wednesday night, that the move for socialized medicine is "a spearhead in the drive for state socialism."

He pointed out that other professions and businesses would soon come under state control in a country where the freedom of medicine was taken over by the state.

Chairman of the house committee on publicity and propaganda prior to the November election, Harness charged that some 45,000 persons were on the federal payroll for publicity purposes and that executive departments and agencies spent $75,000,000 to spread publicity and propaganda within the United States.

He charged that a large percentage of federal funds and publicity had been directed toward a campaign to urge the people to adopt a compulsory health program.

The former congressman estimated that the proposed federal health bill would cost taxpayers $7,000,000,000 and would bankrupt the nation.

He praised the American Medical association and doctors for striving to meet the health problem of individuals and of the nation in the best possible manner and for their continuing campaign toward that end.

Harness spoke under the sponsorship of the Salem Junior Chamber of Commerce and was introduced to the audience by Jaycee President Frank Ward.

Verne Williams, Editor, Passes

Vernon Williams, 55, editor of the Oregon Democrat, died Wednesday night at the University club, where he had his home for the past few years.

Williams, who for years has been active in democratic political circles, had been ill for more than a year and had been discharged from the Veterans hospital in Portland just a week ago.

He was well known in official circles in Salem as for years he attended legislative sessions gathering material for a new service that he operated in the northwest.

Williams was born in Portland, served in the intelligence service during World War I and was overseas for several years. He was born in Portland and made his residence there during his entire lifetime. He was a graduate of Stanford university.

A sister, Mrs. Mildred Rinton, Beaverton, is the only close relative to survive.

Funeral services will be held at the Portland Crematorium Friday at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Douglas McKay, wife of Oregon's governor, and Mrs. H. H. Hargreaves of Portland, President of the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers, welcomed three Oregon College of Education students to last evening's banquet ending the PTA convention in Eugene. Left to right, Mrs. Hargreaves, Mrs. McKay (seated), Mrs. Jane Yant Jensen, and the Misses Delorah Mallatt and Fern Huntzinger. Mrs. Jensen was the first student to receive a PTA scholarship. She and the Misses Mallatt and Huntzinger represented the many students in Oregon's teacher training institutions now receiving PTA aid.

Quezon Family

State funeral services will be held.

Mrs. Quezon was beloved by Filipinos for her charity work with children, for leading the suffrage movement for Filipino women and as chairman of the Philippine Red Cross.

Quezon served the Philippines as their first elected chief of state. He spent most of the war years in Washington where he and Mrs. Quezon were close to the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Quezon died of tuberculosis at the end of the war.

Guard Units to Go to Adair

Officers and men of the two Salem National Guard companies, company B and company G, 162nd infantry regiment, will spend the coming week-end at Camp Adair.

During the two days that the men are at the former army camp they will be on the range. Purpose of the week-end training period is to permit every man of the company to qualify with his particular arm prior to summer training at Camp Clatsop in June.

Leaving here Saturday and not returning until Sunday evening the men will receive their regular two-days pay. They will sleep in the barracks formerly used by the army and mess with the companies using their own cooking equipment.

Seventy enlisted men and five officers from company B and 35 enlisted men and five officers from company G make up the group that will train at Adair.

Agate Beach Trip—The Chemeketa will go to Agate Beach Sunday for a day's outing. The expedition was originally scheduled for last February but was cancelled on account of unfavorable weather. The party will leave from Greenbaum's store at 8 o'clock Sunday morning and return late in the afternoon.

14th Street, pleaded innocent to a charge of reckless driving and posted $100 bail.

Letters Tell of Cancer Drive

Although hundreds of letters have come out from the Marion County Cancer society headquarters, 229 North Liberty street, asking for contributions to the annual fund campaign, the majority of persons reading this will receive none.

The letters were addressed to civic, fraternal and social organizations, business and industrial firms. Individuals are urged to join the nationwide battle against cancer by sending one dollar, or more, to the above address, Chairman Robert M. Fischer, Jr., stated.

National quota for American Cancer society's 1949 drive under way in all 48 states since April 1 is $14,565,561. Working under Oregon division of the cancer society Marion county has a goal of $6000.

Sixty cents of every dollar contributed is retained by the division for use within the state. Twenty-five cents is spent by the American Cancer society for research in cause and cure of cancer. Fifteen cents of each dollar raised is used by the national headquarters for its broad program of lay and medical education; organization of professional and volunteer service program; administrative guidance of the society's work and promotion of the annual fund campaign.

The following women have volunteered to assist in speeding up the cancer money raising drive in their home communities: Mrs. Norman Yergen, Aurora; Mrs. William Wiederkehr, Sidney district; Mrs. G. H. Marlatt, Talbot district.

Russian Reply

Jessup's possibly momentous 92-minute meeting with Soviet Deputy Foreign Ministers Andrei A. Gromyko and Jakob A. Malik, was surrounded by unusual secrecy. They met on the second floor of the laboratory furnished headquarters of the Russian United Nations delegation on Park avenue, New York.

The Russians sent the single written word "no" to newsmen asking for their comment on the meeting. The American delegation announced only that Jessup had informally communicated the western powers' request at the session.

There were persistent reports, however, that the Russians gave an oral reply at the meeting outlining the two provisions they demand as the price for ending their blockade.

LABOR BILL

Support of the platform should carry through after the election as well as during the campaign, the president said. He added that he stands squarely behind the platform and expects other loyal democrats to do likewise.

The platform contains a democratic pledge to support the enactment of civil rights legislation. Southern opposition to Mr. Truman's proposals for anti-lynch law, anti-lynching and anti-job discrimination split the party wide open in the last campaign.

Strayer Rites Held—Funeral services for Allen F. Strayer, brother of Albert Strayer, of Salem, were held here Wednesday. Strayer, who retired five years ago, lived at Depoe Bay.
