Campus Clippings UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

By JEAN SWIFT

With the end of election excitement late Wednesday night came the news that Bob Weber of Salem was elected president of the senior class and Don Pickett was selected as sophomore representative to the executive council.

"A Night in Bagdad" has been selected as the theme for the Junior Prom which will take place Saturday evening of Junior week-end. As usual, Mothers' day week-end will be held in conjunction with this annual affair which is sponsored by the university's junior class, and the festivities for both events will begin a week from this Friday night when the "All Campus Sing" will be presented in McArthur court.

University students were favorably impressed with the unusual musical patterns presented in a "sound experiment" in University theater on Sunday afternoon. The orchestration, given by a small group of student musicians, included works by Beethoven, Bach and Bartok, in addition to some original serious and jazz compositions. This student organization program was the first of its kind on the campus and it is one example of the type of entertainment which will take place in the Student Union building next winter.

Data from the office of the registrar reveal an unusual boy-girl ration on the campus. Speaking of rationing, it seems that whether or not Joe College is interested in dating his entire quota of university womanhood is his privilege, but he is entitled to only seven-sixteenths of a woman. Someone will have to sacrifice! The varsity golf team has acquired a number of winning matches from Oregon State, Idaho and University of British Columbia in Northern division play, and team members have high hopes of participating in unconquered competition.

Carpenters have begun work on a new house that will be occupied by the members of Sigma Kappa sorority next fall. It is being built on the upper campus between the Phi Delta Theta and Kappa Kappa Gamma houses.

For the first time in recent years, the sophomore class is sponsoring a picnic which will be held at Swimmers Delight on Saturday afternoon. Committee members will provide entertainment during the picnic, and swimming, baseball and dancing will be provided for the enjoyment of sophomore "picnickers."

Much activity is expected to reign this week-end when the members of the law school present their annual law school week-end, complete with queen and court which is made up entirely of male students. As usual, the school of business administration has accepted the challenge to "duel of honor" which will take place on the baseball diamond Saturday afternoon. The spirited and colorful festivities will begin with the coronation of the "queen" on Fenton hall steps in the early afternoon.

FROM Walla Walla, Wash., comes word of the birth of a son, James Evan Baker, to Mr. and Mrs. Roger Baker, April 24 at Walla Walla. Other children in the family are Douglas, Barbara and JoAnne. The grand parents are Mrs. A. C. F. Perry of Salem, Mrs. Baker being the former Eleanor Perry; and Oscar Baker, also of Salem.

MRS. MELISSA JENKS of Covina, Calif. arrived Thursday for an extended visit at the home of her stepson and wife Mr. and Mrs. Winstanley Jenks.
