HISTORICAL MEDICAL HIGHLIGHTS—No. 33

THE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

He was an old man, but he was a researcher and he was working on a fascinating experiment — he was seeking an "Elixir of Life." Into twelve decrepit, aging dogs, he injected an extract taken from the testes of healthy young guinea pigs. Eleven dogs were unaffected, the twelfth seemed to be rejuvenated. Could it be...? Charles Brown Squard injected himself with the extract — he felt younger, more vigorous. The "Elixir of Life" was found, and with it, man's first knowledge of hormones, knowledge which may truly lead to the Fountain of Youth.
