

Air Force Unveils Newest Jet Fighter—The air force has unveiled its newest jet fighter, the Republic XF-91 (above), following completion of first flight tests at Muroc Dry Lake, Calif. The plane is powered by a G-E J-47 turbojet and will also have rocket motors, which have not yet been installed. The rockets will be used for accelerated take-off and climb and for operation at high altitude. The XF-91 is 45 feet long and has a wing span of about 30 feet. (Acme Telephoto)

Come With Me, Lucile, In My Merry Bookmobile

By WILLIAM WARREN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

For the gal who wants to be brilliant as well as beautiful an appropriate theme song would be: "Come With Me Lucile, in My Merry Bookmobile."

The lads as well as the lasses through those parts of rural Oregon served by bookmobiles are finding the mobilized libraries a rich treasure of culture.

Come rain or snow or sleet or heat the books, like the mail, must go through. Bookmobile librarians have toasted their toasts while tending the tomes in 90-in-the-shade weather in some remote community. They've battled bitter winter cold while passing out the books in backwoods settlements.

Not that they complain. They just thought it would be a good idea, when they were talking over the matter with State Librarian Eleanor Stephens here the other day, to recommend better heating and air conditioning equipment to the makers of bookmobiles. It was at that meeting that problems and potentials of bookmobiles were freely discussed.

What's the best answer, for instance, to keep books from bouncing off their shelves in event of a collision? Several Washington state bookmobile librarians here for the powwow said they keep their shelves full—with books returned at about the same rate they are taken out—so the books don't have room to bounce around.

Oregon's bookmobiles—only 6 of our 36 counties have them—largely make use of slotted bookends and rubber mats on the shelves to keep the books within bounds.

Dorothy Doyle, Tillamook county bookmobile librarian, was on Guam for over a year near the end of the war, where she distributed books to men of the armed forces at 18 stations. She finds rural people have about the same tastes as city dwellers.

Leone Mann, Clatsop county bookmobile librarian, finds that books on handicraft are popular in her area.

Eleanor F. Brown, Deschutes county librarian, and her bookmobile librarian, Miss Marion Grover, find that use of a bookmobile not only spreads more culture to the outlying communities, but does so at less cost than a stationary library. Miss Brown says that, after the initial purchase price, Deschutes county is distributing 136,000 books by bookmobile at a cost of only $250 a year for maintenance.

The only counties with bookmobiles at present are Clackamas, Clatsop, Deschutes, Klamath, Multnomah and Tillamook.

Court Marion Has Election

Mt. Angel—Annual election of officers for Court Marion, Catholic Daughters of America was held this week, when Mrs. Al Lulay was re-elected grand regent; Mrs. R. O. Appleby was elected vice-grand regent; Mrs. Henry Geck, prophetess; Mrs. R. J. Welton, financial secretary; Miss Henrietta Saalfeld, historian; Mrs. Leo Schwab, treasurer; Miss Anne Erwert, lecturer; Mrs. Frank Aman, monitor; Mrs. Edward Hammer, sentinel; Mrs. J. D. Hauth, organist; and three year trustees, Mrs. Mark Wampach and Mrs. M. McIntyre.

Mrs. Frank, chairman for the banquet committee who served the dinner for the Mt. Angel Business Men's club, gave a report, stating that everyone was pleased with the service, and that the business men paid them $150, and after bills are paid, any surplus would be given to the Court's seminary benefit fund.

The Court decided to buy three dozen tea towels for use in the dining hall. At the request from National that all members subscribe to the rebuilding of St. Anthony hospital, at Effingham, Illinois, the members decided to accept free-will offerings at each of the next business and social meetings June 13 and May 23.

An invitation was received from Court St. Rose, Portland, to attend the dinner and initiation of new members, May 18. Mrs. Raymond Duda is chairwoman entertained at dinner in compliment to their son, Mel, who received his first communion at Woodburn on Sunday, May 1. Covers were placed for the guest of honor, Mel, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Heitzman, Harold, Jr., Jacqueline, and Michael, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kingela all of Portland, Bernard Blem of Eugene, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. LeDoux and son, Johnny, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Gottsacker and family.

Mrs. Peter Gores spent the Mother's day weekend as the guest of her daughter, Miss Katherine Gores, G. N. at Longview, Wash.

By the end of 1947 American firms had $33 billion worth of group life insurance for their employees.
