Miss Carrico Is Engaged

The engagement of Miss Jean Carrico, program director for younger girls work in the Salem YWCA, to William Barber of Salem was announced Monday evening during the dinner hour at the Delta Gamma sorority on Willamette university campus.

Miss Carrico is a junior at Willamette. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Carrico of Phoenix, Arizona, recently of Calgary, Alberta, Canada. Mr. Barber, who is a graduate student at Willamette, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Barber of Salem.

He is to study in France this summer.

The wedding is planned as a Christmas time one. The announcement Monday was made in a May Day theme. A May pole centered the table with pastel streamers leading to the places. As each guest pulled her streamer a scroll came out of the May pole with the names of the couple written on it.

AUMSVILLE—The regular meeting of auxiliary of the Gold Star Post No. 175 was held May 4 in City hall.

Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Marion Miller, past president of District No. 2, were special guests for the evening.

At the conclusion of the business meeting the post and auxiliary met together for refreshments.

The next regular meeting will be held June 1. New officers will be elected and Mrs. Higgins, state vice-president, will install the incoming officers. The public is invited to attend the installation ceremonies.

INVITATIONS have been received by Salem friends for the annual Matrix Table Banquet to be given by the University of Oregon chapter of Theta Sigma Phi on Thursday evening, May 19, at the Eugene hotel.

Mrs. Dorothy Carew, formerly finance writer with the Associated Press in New York City, is to be the guest speaker. The formal dinner will be at the Eugene hotel.

BPWs Open Convention

The next three days are busy ones for the members of the Salem Business and Professional Women's club during which time they will be hostesses to the 28th annual state convention of the Oregon Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs. Mrs. Arthur Weddle of the Salem club is the state president and will preside during the three-day event.

Events begin Friday with a state executive board luncheon at noon in the Senator hotel, the board session following and an informal tea during the afternoon for the board members. Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, Texas, first vice-president of the national federation, is to arrive Friday afternoon to be the official representative from the national federation at the convention.

Friday evening brings the Gypsy dinner at the Chamber of Commerce for delegates and visitors, followed by the annual convention fun session to be staged in the Senator hotel.

Business sessions for the convention will be held throughout Saturday morning in the First Methodist church. The luncheon will be at noon at the church as an international program event.

Vice Admiral Thomas L. Gatch, Portland, former Salem resident and a hero of the last war, will be guest speaker. Business sessions for the convention will continue through Saturday afternoon.

The formal banquet honoring Judge Hughes will be Friday evening, at the Marion hotel and at the American Legion club. The program following will be at 8 p.m. in the armory with Judge Hughes as speaker.

The convention concludes Sunday morning with a breakfast at 8:45 o'clock in the Marion hotel, featuring installation of officers.

End Dance Season

Monday Night Dancing club closed its season of dances last evening with a party in the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall. A large number of members and guests attended.

The group made plans for a picnic on July 12 when new officers for next year will be elected.

MRS. GUSSIE SHAW, new guardian Neighbor, will preside at a formal meeting of Neighbors of Woodcraft, Friday evening at the Woman's clubhouse, 460 North Cottage street, honoring all mothers. Following the program refreshments will be served.

IN PORTLAND Thursday for a luncheon honoring General Mark W. Clark, who was there for the day to open the outdoor army and air force outdoor exhibition, and Mrs. Clark, were Governor and Mrs. Douglas McKay, also Major General and Mrs. Thomas E. Rilea. The luncheon was at Holladay Park.

To Senior Ball

Governor and Mrs. Douglas McKay, G. Frederick Chambers, member of the state board of higher education, and Mrs. Chambers will be among guests attending the senior ball at Oregon State college, Friday evening.

The McKays' younger daughter, Miss Mary Lou McKay, is a member of the OSC senior class.

Heitz-Golder Rites May 24

The marriage of Sabina Golder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Salsbery of Oak Grove, to Charles T. Heitz of Salem was solemnized the afternoon of Sunday, April 24. The service was solemnized at 3 o'clock in the First Congregational church here, the Rev. Seth R. Huntington officiating.

The bride wore a pale pink nylon lace gown with a headpiece of the same material and her flowers were a bouquet of pink tulips and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Lee Barnes of Milwaukie was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Anna Andersen of Oak Grove, Mrs. Doris Sager and Mrs. Elsie Hally of Portland. The four attendants wore gowns in pastel colors, green, yellow, aqua and orchid. Their flowers were mixed bouquets of spring flowers.

Young Miss Claudia Jones was flower girl, wearing a pastel blue frock and carrying a basket of rose petals.

Harold Tilden of Woodburn was best man and the ushers were Mannie Morris, Glen Wyatt and William Knight. The reception following was in the church parlors, Mrs. L. C. Frederickson, Mrs. L. G. Bragg, Miss Peggy Bragg and Mrs. Kenneth Esch assisting.

For traveling the bride wore an aqua suit with white accessories and corsage of orchids. Following a trip south the couple are at home in Salem.

DAYTON—The Past President's club of American Legion auxiliary met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Dale Fowler on Grand Island. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Blanche Rufener. This was the last meeting until fall. Election of officers was held as follows: Mrs. Milt Murphy, president; Mrs. Floyd Willert, vice-president; Mrs. Dale Fowler, secretary-treasurer. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

AT THE golf day for the Oak Knoll Ladies Golf club, Wednesday, Mrs. Eldon Vaughn and Mrs. W. A. Ott tied for low number of putts. Luncheon was served after the play.

Plans were talked over for the two-ball foursome event to be given May 22.

For any coed trying to get in a pre-midnight nap Monday evening all was in vain. She had only to settle down when the sound of a brass band or men's voices from below the sleeping porch startled her into the realization that this was election week at W. U. and the ingenuity of campaign managers went to almost any lengths. At dinner she could not even be free from the ideas because paper napkins had been stamped with one candidate's name, pamphlets about another were at each place setting and during the meal a box of candy chews had arrived from another ASWU prexy aspirant. Midnight serenades varied from the singing of Willamette songs by the Betas for their presidential nominee to the Phi Delta complete vaudeville show from a flare lighted truck which included everything from band orchestrations to novelty dance numbers. Sigma Chi also joined the serenading with clever parodies about each of their candidates running in the elections.

Posters and signs of all shapes, colors and caricatures urge voters to support one of the many candidates vying for class representative, ASWU secretary, second vice president, first vice president or president. Each of the four fraternities is running men for the latter office this year. Candidates are Ray McCoy, Al McMullen, Chuck Patterson and Russ Tripp. The sixteen contestants for the four student body posts with their introducers spent more than an hour and a half in Tuesday's chapel presenting their platforms and experience for the respective jobs, interspersed, of course, with the usual number of so-called humorous stories and jokes of which they just "happened to be reminded." Polls in Eaton hall and the Cat opened following the political speeches and voting continued through Wednesday afternoon until 4 o'clock when votes were counted to determine next year's student government officials.

The long awaited spring atmosphere has caused social events to give way to beach parties and picnics. Last week-end was the beginning of a month's series of such events with the Beta and Indeps scheduling their outings for last Saturday. The weather did not completely play fair with the groups, but they nevertheless had exhausting days of hiking, eating and surf wading. The Sigs plan their beach trip for this week-end, blue skies prevailing.

Initial plans for next year's publications were made the latter part of last week at least to the naming of editors for the various publications. It is an all women group for next year with LuDene Hargrave as Wallulah editor, Ellen Montague as editor of the Collegian, Margaret Alwood editing the students guide and Janet Stark as Rock Bible editor. Something new in the line of publications for the campus is the humor magazine edited by Russ Tripp and Don Carpenter which is scheduled to come off the press some time this week with its pioneer edition.

MISS SUSAN FAHERTY was in Portland through Thursday, consulting American Red Cross officials there.

The colorful rhododendrons along the Memorial Union blossomed out in their full glory to greet the 900 Oregon State mothers, who visited the campus last week-end. The three days were packed full of events which gave the mothers a view of the campus and a taste of the life—leaving most of them completely worn out but happy.

At the Mothers' club meeting Saturday morning, Mrs. O. I. Paulson, Salem, was elected president of the Oregon State Mothers. Mrs. Paulson served as vice president last year.

David Rubinoff, concert violinist, and David Valequez, concert pianist, performed in the men's gymnasium Tuesday night at a special concert sponsored by the Corvallis Junior Chamber of Commerce. Rubinoff, playing his famous Stradivarius violin, was highly received by the crowded house of students and townspeople. Music composed by himself combined with the music of the great masters was featured. His "Fiddlin' the Fiddle" was the first violin jazz solo in America; Cole Porter's "Don't Fence Me In" was played in nine different manners—symphonic, Strauss waltz, rumba, Scotland, Ireland, Palestine, Russia, John Phillip Sousa, and boggie woggie. The "Warsaw Concerto" was transcribed by Rubinoff as the Warsaw he knew when he received his doctor of music degree there at the age of 14.

Along the honor line Salem's Mary Massee received the highest honor awarded the college women when she was tapped for Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, last Wednesday. Mary has been active in campus activities since she entered college and is well deserving of the honor. In the recent appointment of new editors and managers of the college publications, Nancy Buren was announced as the new manager of the Oregon State Beaver, the school yearbook.

Dr. T. Z. Koo, eminent Chinese Christian leader, was on the campus two days this week with a full schedule of meetings, forums and dinners planned for talking to the students about problems in China, the new world organization, and spiritual foundations of life. Dr. Koo has been secretary of the World Student Christian federation for 14 years and was the Chinese delegate to the United Nations conference in San Francisco.

Oregon State's mammoth basketball palace, resembling the inverted hull of a huge ship, is rapidly becoming a landmark on the campus. The giant structure, nearly 80 per cent complete, has enough room to turn a B-17 bomber around with room to spare. One of the pavillion's unique features is that the length of the floor lies perpendicular to the length of the building.

High school seniors will have their turn to visit the campus on May 20, 21 and 22, when the entire campus will be ready and waiting their arrival. Committees are in the process of shaping the final plans to give the seniors a real idea of what Oregon State is like.

Birthdays at McCargar Home

Elizabeth and Larry McCargar, children of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McCargar, are being honored at birthday parties this week.

Elizabeth's party was this afternoon, her third anniversary. Guests included the little girl's grandmothers, Mrs. George Lawrence of Portland and Mrs. McCargar; Bobby Schmidt, Timmy Heltzel, Mary and Joan Griffith, Bobby and Barbara Keudell, Laura and Harter de Weese, Cathy Allen, Marilyn Miller, Sarah and Timmy Kingan of Lebanon, Carolyn and Cathryn Stadler, Margaret Lancefield, Janet Griffin and Larry McCargar.

Larry's eighth birthday will be Friday and guests for his party will include the two grandmothers, also Gregory Stadler, Bucky Schmidt, Bill Brown, Randy de Weese, Larry Morgan, David Taylor, Neil Lancefield, Douglas Hamilton, Tommy Heltzel, Tommy Dunham, Arthur Erickson, Jim Heltzel, Bill Crandall and John Gibbens.
