High Titles Are Awarded in Guernsey Cattle Show Here

A 3-year-old cow and her daughter, a senior heifer calf, won grand champion and reserve champion trophies respectively in the second annual Spring Guernsey Cattle club show, junior division, at the State Fair grounds Saturday. Both were entered by Richard Gilbert of Turner.

Commander of Pep's Acres, a 2-year-old entered by Peopling Brothers of Mt. Angel, was judged the grand champion bull of the show. The reserve championship went to an animal owned by Frank Meiers of Oregon City.

For female classes in the senior division William Frith of St. Paul showed Mirthful Queenie, 6 years old, who won senior and grand champion award. The reserve championship went to an entry by Lester Erb of Albany.

One of the important events was the fitting and showmanship contest, open only to Future Farmers and 4-H entries. First place was awarded Marvin Jahn of Silverton.

The show, and especially the junior division, got commendation from Harold Ewalt of the dairy husbandry division at Oregon State college, judge of the show. A total of over 50 animals were shown.

Master of ceremonies was Elmer Meadows, western field man for Guernseys. He was assisted by Ben Newell, Marion county extension agent and secretary of the Marion-Polk Guernsey Breeders association; John Hansen, Polk county extension agent; Don Walrod, Clackamas county extension agent; Club Leaders Robert Ohling of Polk county, Joe Meyer of Linn county, Anthol Riney of Marion; Calvin Monroe, state 4-H club leader; Gene Foreman, FFA director at Albany, and Ted Hobart, field man for the United States National bank.

City 4-H Club Leader Wanted

Before the city council is a proposal that the 1949-1950 budget appropriate money for a full-time city 4-H club leader, with clerical help and office supplies.

Harry L. Riches, county agent, said he thought the city council would give the matter consideration shortly.

The financial outlay would be federal, state and city, and Riches said the state and federal money is now available. A sponsoring committee for city cooperation is Gene Vandeneinde, chairman; Ted Medford, Guy N. Hickok, E. Burr Miller, G. F. Chambers, David W. Eyre and William L. Phillips.

Riches said that within the Salem city limits are over 7500 boys and girls of 4-H club age. He believes that a full-time agent could have possible 1200 enrolled in 4-H club work within a year.

Portland is the only city in Oregon now having its own 4-H club organization.

He had been buried in about three feet of earth. Men were working nearby on the field of the father, George Harris Frey, at the time.
