

Teachers To Be Feted

Parents of the ninth grade at Leslie Junior high school are sponsoring a no-host dinner Tuesday evening to honor teachers of the school, the event being arranged to express appreciation on the part of parents for the work of the faculty.

BPW Club Puts On "Fun Night"

Woodburn—"Fun Night" was the theme of the May dinner meeting of the Woodburn Business and Professional Women's club at the Episcopal parish hall. A smorgasbord dinner was served at 7 p.m. by the women of the church followed by the program which was in charge of Mrs. Eugene Stoller, chairman of the program committee. A special number was a humorous reading by Miss Aryles Nelson. The group singing was led by Kenneth Thompson with accordion accompaniment by Eugene Stoller and featured a vocal solo by Ed Coman who was a guest.

A "Volga Boatman" act was put on by Mr. Thompson with Mrs. Stoller being brought in at the end of a long rope and introduced as the new president of the club.

A special initiation was put on for Mr. Thompson and Mr. Stoller, "honorary" members, who were forced to don women's apparel complete with hats and lipstick. Pictures were taken of the two in their costumes.

Mrs. Henry Stange presided over the opening of the meeting and introduced Mrs. Stoller, who in turn introduced her committee, Mrs. Frank Bentley, Mrs. Walter Schuler and Mrs. Walter Miller. Mrs. G. C. Foster, also a member of the committee, was unable to be present.

It was announced that the next business meeting, June 2, will be held at the home of Mrs. Clark C. McCall, Lancaster Drive, Salem, and those wishing transportation should call Mrs. Stoller. Cars will leave the Stoller home, 503 Young street, at 7:15 on that date.

AMONG those to be honored at the June 4 homecoming for San Jose State college alumni will be Miss Esther G. Long, Salem, member of the class of 1939. Tradition at the college is to honor graduates of 50, 25 and 10 years ago at the annual homecoming.
