State Building Program Rapidly Nearing Finish

By James D. Olson

The state board of control's $6,000,000 building program is rapidly coming to a conclusion. A new $300,000 combination dormitory and school building at Oregon School for the Deaf was accepted from Carl M. Halvorson, Salem contractor, May 3 and occupied about a week later. At Hillcrest School for Girls four buildings are under construction. One, a food service building is expected to be completed within 30 days and the other three, a school building and a dormitory and a combination chapel, auditorium and gymnasium, late this fall.

The new structure at the deaf school will relieve crowded conditions considerably according to M. B. Clatterback, superintendent.

Sixty in Dormitory

The new dormitory, designed for the younger students, will accommodate 60 children and the school building has eight rooms plus offices, and a small library. Virtually all of the furniture used in the new building was manufactured in the school's shop by students. Enrollment at the school is now approximately 150 students.

Mrs. Katharyn Loaiza, superintendent of Hillcrest school, hopes the school building will be completed for the fall semester. There will be seven school rooms, a library and offices in the school.

A total of 53 girls will be accommodated in the new dormitory. Included in the building will be a segregation ward for girls who do not conform to discipline. Quarters for 18 staff workers are also included in the building.

One feature of the new dormitory are two fire proof towers in which the girls may go in the event of a conflagration. These towers are an innovation and resulted in the fire authorities waiving installation of either fire escapes or chutes on the building.

Service Tunnel Built

The auditorium-chapel and gymnasium building is being constructed with concrete with brick facing.

Leading from the present main building to the new buildings is a service tunnel which enable the girls to go from one building to another without going outdoors.

In the school's food service building are facilities to process meat, churn butter and handle milk and cream, quick freeze compartments and a root room for storage of fresh vegetables.

The total cost of the Hillcrest project is $640,000 with Malarky & Moore as the contractors.

Budget Committee Meets

Amity—The city council, the city budget committee and all taxpayers of the city are being notified of a meeting June 6 at City hall to discuss the new city budget.

"Tis the very air your motor breathes that's full of abrasive road dirt, in particles so fine that even your air filter can't trap them all. These particles, plus gummy carbon, can damage the mirrorlike surfaces of your cylinder walls. RPM Motor Oil is especially compounded to combat this "grind-stone action" by keeping the dangerous particles harmlessly and completely dispersed between oil changes. Be safe. Use "RPM"—it's first choice in the West.
