

Queen Crowning Opens Festival

Lebanon—The 37th strawberry festival, June 3-4, opens with the coronation of Queen Charlotte Pease at an out-door ceremony on the high school campus. Accompanied by her six princesses, Queen Charlotte will receive the crown from Mayor George W. Peavy of Corvallis. Coronation time is set for 10 a.m.

The grand parade will follow at 11 o'clock and at noon the queen and her court will cut the world's largest shortcake on Main street. Preparation is being made to serve 15,000 visitors.

Lebanon's high school band will open the afternoon program and at 2:15 Governor McKay will be escorted to the program platform. He will be introduced by Rep. Warren Gill. Barbershop quartets will be a feature of the afternoon.

A massed band concert will be heard in the evening at Newport field. Boxing bouts on the Main street platform will also be seen Friday evening.

The children's parade will be seen at 10:30 Saturday morning. Occupying the program during the afternoon will be the Young Oregonian's vaudeville troop from Portland, the Hoosier Hot Shots from Indiana, and the Oklahoma Night Riders.

Evening events include a horse show, folk dancing in the street, fireworks and athletic events.

Berry exhibits, a flower show, industrial and big equipment exhibits will be seen both days, with Browning Brothers Carnival of Salem adding to the festive spirit.

Top attraction of the period will be three days of horse racing at Lebanon Meadows, opening on June 2. Eight races each day are scheduled with quarter horses and thoroughbreds racing each afternoon.

Stayton to Go On Fast Time

Stayton, May 27 — Stayton will go on daylight saving time Sunday, May 29 at midnight. So much confusion had reigned since Portland, Salem and other cities went on the fast time, that Stayton's city council found it should conform in order to keep in step, according to Mayor Cliff J. Likes.

When Portland went on daylight saving time, the Stayton council held a caucus May 12, and decided to stay on standard time in line with state and county offices. Commuters who take the bus to Salem each day were especially handicapped. It is understood the Hamman bus lines are planning to change over to daylight time, also.

Sublimity will also abandon standard time for the summer, according to E. A. Ditter, and it is understood Mill City has decided on the step.

Flax Festival Adds Industrial Display

Mt. Angel—An industrial display covering a full city block consisting of new automobiles, farm machinery and other equipment, will be a new feature of the flax festival here July 29 to 31. The location is just north of the Mt. Angel hotel.

Each of the four princesses will receive a gold wrist watch and the queen a $100 scholarship. All court gowns and street costumes used during the festival will be provided by the committee.

H. L. Brendon, chairman of the festival committee, is now receiving entries for the contest. Gene Barrett is manager of the festival this year.

The two-day show is scheduled tentatively to be held on the Linn county court house plaza.

Stayton Co-operative Receives Strawberries

Stayton, May 27 — The first strawberries were brought into the Stayton Canning company, Co-operative, by J. Gilmore of Jefferson, who brought in 40 crates.

Capital Journal, Salem, Oregon, Friday, May 27, 1949—3

Beginning Monday of this week the cannery began processing berries, freezing them in retail size packages. Although not operating at full capacity yet, it was believed the plant would be by the last of the week or the first of next, according to Walter Smith, quality control man at the cannery. The berries are of good size and quality this year, Smith said.

The Argentine government will operate wine-bottling plants.
