WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY
By DONA ADAMS

The annual all-school picnic sponsored by the sophomores will attract the student body Saturday to Island Park outside of Canby for the traditional spring event. Refreshments, recreation and transportation are all being furnished by the class who make the proverbial "bigger and better" claims for this year's picnic.

Russell Tripp, ASWU president-elect for 1949-50, was installed officially as the head man of the student body by retiring prexy, George Hurt, in Tuesday's annual awards chapel. More than 100 other students were honored in the chapel for their work on student body activities and for high scholarship. Awards ranged from athletic blankets given to graduating athletes to monetary presentations and scholarships.

Though uncooperative weather discouraged many class members, the class beach parties proceeded on schedule over the week-end. Seniors were the first to leave for the coast on Friday and early Saturday morning. The '49ers took over the Taft Heights hotel and motel for their three and four-day outing. Typical picnic meals of hot dogs and crab were served cafeteria style in one of the motels due to the damp beach. Seniors are all feeling the results of a strenuous week-end of football, baseball, volley ball, bowling, roller skating and general hiking and climbing up and down the beach. Sunday morning an unusually small group of approximately 13 juniors traveled to the beach via a hay-filled truck. The upholders of class spirit and honor served a spaghetti dinner to the seniors Sunday evening after a day of beach activities. As the results of losing a Glee bet freshmen were hosts to the sophomores Saturday at Nesko-win. Plenty of food, exercise and mist occupied the lower classmen for the day.

Attention is being given this week to next fall as returning students spend the week in arranging classes and obtaining signatures for the pre-registration process. Students are faced with the same old problems of fulfilling upper and lower division requirements, major requirements and getting in at least two or three hours of elective in the few hours available.
