

St. Paul Cemetery Improved—A clean-up and landscaping project is nearing completion at the St. Paul cemetery as a preliminary to caretaking program which will be followed each year. In the background of the photo above, a tractor is shown touring through the markers to grade the ploughed soil preparatory to seeding. A well has been drilled on the eastern edge of the cemetery to provide irrigation for the cemetery.

Reward Set Up Missing Airmen

Wives of the three army men who disappeared in a B-28 on April 21 on a flight from Hamilton Field, California, to Portland, have offered a $1500 reward to the person locating the trio or their bodies.

Aboard the plane were Air Force Colonel A. Y. Smith, Army Colonel Walter W. Hodge and Air Force Sergeant H. E. Sluga.

A search of certain areas conducted by the air rescue service ended May 12, with negative results. The search was resumed a few days after that when a Marlon county deputy sheriff reported an object resembling a plane in the timbered area near Detroit. The object was later identified from the air as a patch of snow.

The families of the men believe that the trio may have parachuted or landed in some remote area, and may be awaiting rescue. They were last heard from while near Portland.

Anyone finding these men, or who has information pertaining to the case, is asked to contact the nearest ranger station, sheriff's office, highway patrol, army or air force station or the Civil Air Patrol headquarters, 291 Geary street, San Francisco.

The reward money is on deposit at a San Francisco bank.

Postmasters to Meet in Newport

The Oregon state branch and auxiliary of the National Association of Postal Supervisors is holding its annual convention at Newport Saturday and Sunday with around 100 delegates expected. The business sessions will be held the first day and the second day devoted to recreation.

Frederick O'Dwyer, San Francisco, national committeeman of the NAPS, will speak at the dinner Saturday night with officers elected earlier in the day to be installed. Tom Becker, president of the Newport Chamber of Commerce, will welcome the delegates together with Frank

No Luncheon Meet Of Chamber Monday

No luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held Monday because it is the Memorial day holiday.

At the meeting for the following Monday, June 6, the speaker will be LaVerne (Kip) Taylor, the new football coach at Oregon State college.

The regular Monday luncheon schedule will be dropped for the remainder of the summer, but there will be occasional luncheon meetings during the summer season in the interest of new memberships.

The membership department, under the leadership of Ed Schreder, will be active through the year.

Paden, Newport postmaster, W. A. Hughitt, Redmond, president of the Oregon branch, will respond.

Fight Over Girls Jails Five Youths

Lebanon—Competition for the attention of two local girls was blamed Tuesday night on the lawn of an east Grant street home, that resulted in jailing of five youths, the escape of another, and the apprehension of four others, all juveniles.

According to Chief of Police Price, the two girls were driven home by their escorts, and as they left the car, were accosted by a group of seven boys, all from outside of Lebanon.

Night police arriving on the scene in answer to a phone call, apprehended all but one of the participating youths.

Ten dollar fines were levied against parents and guardians of each child involved for allowing them to be out after hours, and an additional $10 was levied against the lads who provoked the fight.
