

Forum Active At Silverton

Silverton—Activities reported by the secretary of the chamber of commerce, Walter Geren, for the immediate future announced at the week's business session of the forum are numerous and vary in kinds of projects.

Cooperating with other groups of Silverton, the forum is interested in doing work at McGinnis Field in making the grounds in good shape for the coming summer's games. Members are to meet at 7 o'clock, Tuesday evening at the ball field for two hours' work.

On Saturday and Sunday, June 11 and 12, a group from Silverton plan to join engineer's caravan that is scheduled to start from Salem at 7:30 o'clock Saturday morning, the local folk meeting the caravan at Stayton, continuing on to Detroit. Saturday noon luncheon will be at Albany with the Chamber of Commerce, there. During Saturday afternoon the trekkers will go to Fern Ridge, and on to Eugene for the early evening banquet. On Sunday the Dorena dam site and Cottage Grove will be visited.

V. V. Runyan, president of the Silverton forum, is urging as many local folk as can make the trip with the engineers.

Ladies night for the Chamber of Commerce members is planned for a 6:30 o'clock program at the Washington Irving recently remodeled rooms with Col. Miles of the army engineers as speaker.

In the interest of soil conservation, two permanent engineers are being arranged for in this district, and will be provided, if possible, with office room space at the Washington Irving building where a secretary will be on the job.

Ten New Lettermen Weird 'Characters'

Independence — Strangely dressed characters attended school this week. They were the ten new lettermen wearing initiation outfits of gunny sack suits, ladies hat and baby bonnets, and rubber hip boots.

As a part of the annual spring initiation they had to wear the weird costumes all day. Each one also had to bring two pounds of candy for the members of the Letterman's club.

After school the club enjoyed a picnic and steak fry at the Dallas City park. The new lettermen initiated were: Gordon Allen, Jim Bell, Kenneth Carter, Tom Hardwick, Alan Oppinger, Bob Robinson, Jack Snyder, Jack Walters, and Lee Weaver.

War Veterans Wait Services

Woodburn — Members of Woodburn post and auxiliary of American Legion and Champeog Post and Auxiliary, Veterans of post and auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will join in the Memorial services to be held at Belle Passi cemetery Monday, starting at 10:30 o'clock. Representatives of the two organizations are asked to meet at the cemetery gate by 10:15 a. m.

Winton J. Hunt of Woodburn will be the speaker of the day and Rev. Arthur Goble of the Foursquare church will act as chaplain. Special music is being arranged and the ceremonies will close with "taps" at 11 a. m.

Wreaths will be placed at the cemetery monument in tribute to the heroic dead of the two world wars, the Spanish-American war and the Grand Army of the Republic and others. Buglers and a firing squad will be provided by the heavy tank company of the national guard.

The graves registration committee of the American Legion will place flags on the graves of veterans of all wars in St. Luke's Belle Passi, St. Louis, Gervais Masonic, Gervais Catholic, and Pioneer cemeteries.

Nearly all of Woodburn's stores and business houses, the post office, schools, bank and city hall will be closed for the day in tribute to the dead.

Big Reservoir Well Under Way

Dallas — Excavation on the new 3 million gallon water reservoir for Dallas is going forward rapidly with F. B. Miller and company, contractors, doing the work.

They had reached a depth of 12 feet this week for the 230 x 115 foot reservoir. An unexpected ledge of blue shale was struck in one half of the excavation, running diagonally across the area. The contracting company hoped that a strata of rock would not be encountered.

The ends and bisecting wall of the reservoir will drop 12 feet straight down, then taper inward diagonally until a total depth of 24 feet is reached.

Meanwhile, the Salem Sand and Gravel company is progressing at a fast pace on the 16-inch pipeline from the reservoir above West Clay street to Main street. The main runs down Clay street and the ditch is being dug, pipe laid and covered as the work proceeds. The operation was only about two blocks from Main street Wednesday.

E. L. McCleary, manager of the Dallas water commission, states that the pipeline will be completed, including the "clean up" by mid-June.

The manager has advised sightseers to stay away from the operations during the day time because of the fact that it was necessary to lay the line down the middle of the road to the reservoir, allowing little room for traffic and no parking space.

Lamb Orphans Keep Interest for Show

Lebanon — Lambing suffered acutely from the rigors of last winter, and contrary to custom, Scio sheepmen have given special care to lamb orphans. Interest has been keen among the various stockmen to save these youngsters and give them a place as useful members of the herd.

A new innovation at the Scio Fat Lamb and Wool show Saturday was the showing of bottle lambs. Each of the ten show directors entered his best baby and competition promises to be keen for the cash prizes and a monogrammed nursing bottle for the most boxom infant.

Streets at Stayton Undergoing Repairs

Stayton—Annual patching and repair work is being given the streets of Stayton this week by the Portland Construction company of Portland, of which J. Fullerton is manager. The work was made more extensive this year because of damage caused by severe freezing conditions last winter.

Patching of asphaltic paving is being used and some streets are requiring more than one application. Although the crew and equipment arrived in Stayton last week, they had to wait for the arrival of material before they could begin the work here.

Gervais to Observe Day with Program

Gervais—Memorial day services will be held at the Pioneer church chapel, near Brooks, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. John T. Myers of Eugene the speaker. There will be a program and also a short business meeting following to take care of matters pertaining to the cemetery. A welcome is extended to all.

Fresh Leis Received
Woodburn—Mrs. Nellie Muir recently received two leis of red carnations from Hawaii, the gift of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Kilpatrick of Honolulu. The leis arrived by air in good condition and Mrs. Muir has worn them to several teachers' meetings.

Election Is Called For Crowfoot School

Lebanon—In order to provide two new class rooms and a new heating system for the rapidly growing Crowfoot school, an election is being called at the school Wednesday, June 1, according to C. M. Price, clerk of the board.

The proposal being submitted is to exceed the six per cent limitation by $38,000 for the improvements deemed necessary. The school employed nine classroom teachers beside the principal last year.

The polls will be open from 7 to 9 p. m.
