GNULYWEDS GNULIFY GNUTIALS — Zookeeper Charles Allen at Griffith Park, Los Angeles, coaxed a lovely lady gnu (foreground), obtained from San Diego, into the pen of Ned (background) when he noticed the latter seemed neurotic. Everything went nicely until the lady suddenly stopped and sniffed a Brahman bull in an adjoining cage. That infuriated Ned to the point of charging and going the girl friend twice. Now they're in separate pens until they act normal gnylweds. (AP Wirephoto).

Gno, Gnu, Says Gned the Gnu

Los Angeles (AP)—Ned the Gnu made it plain that he won't stand for a girl friend who flirts with the fellow in the next cage. Keepers at Griffith park zoo noticed that Ned was lonesome and imported a female from San Diego, Cal. Ned pawed the ground in welcome and everything looked rosy until the girl gnu suddenly stopped and sniffed at a Brahman bull next door.

Incensed, Ned chased Miss Gnu all around the pen before keepers led him into another pen.

"In a day or two they'll be rubbing noses through the wire," predicted Head Keeper Charles Allen. "It just takes time."

Unknown Leads First Round of National Open

Chicago, June 10 (AP)—The big boys of golf were back seat riders today, as little known Les Kennedy led 159 survivors into the second round of the National Open golf tournament at Medinah country club.

The course proved to be just as tough as the experts said it was, and it produced a surprise 31-year-old Kennedy, a red-headed freckle faced New Englander. He has won his section of PGA championship for three straight years while collecting practically nothing else in prizes.

He was the first day leader with a two under par 69, regarded by the lads with the money winning rating as mighty good on Medinah's number three, a 1981 yard chunk of water, trees and rough.

His performance set him one stroke ahead of a quarter of a val, two of them equally unknown.

Grants Pass Man Tokyo Rose Witness

Portland, June 10 (AP)—John E. Turnicliffe, 37, of route 4, box 233, Grants Pass, has been subpoenaed as a witness in the treason trial of Tokyo Rose.

The trial will open in San Francisco July 18 for Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, one of the women who broadcast for the Japanese in war time under the name of Tokyo Rose.

In Grants Pass his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mae Fuller, said she understood Turnicliffe was being called as a defense witness. She said Turnicliffe denied, however, that he had ever met or seen Tokyo Rose.

Turnicliffe could not be reached for comment. He was a civilian worker captured at Wake Island and imprisoned at Shanghai and later near Tokyo.

Because of the alkaline content of ashes, tools and containers used to handle ashes in big power plants must be made of metals which resist corrosion.
