

Occupational Tax Bill Being Drafted by Kowitz

An all-inclusive occupational tax bill is being put into shape by City Attorney Chris J. Kowitz, and it is not ready for introduction at Monday night's meeting of the city council, which is predicted to go in probably at the meeting two weeks hence.

Mechanical Brain Perfected

Manchester, Eng., June 11 (AP)—A mechanical brain that may "eventually compete on equal terms" with the human mind has been developed at Manchester university.

It may even compose poetry, says Mathematician A. W. Turing, who is testing its thinking powers.

Discussing robot brains in general, the university's prof. Geoffrey Jefferson, said Thursday he doubts one will ever compose a sonnet or a concerto.

He told the Royal College of Surgeons a machine with enough artificial brain cells for that would have to be as big as the Empire State building. It would take the power of a Niagara falls to run it, Jefferson added.

But Turing says no one can tell yet how smart this new thinking machine may be.

"It may take years before we settle down to the possibilities," he said, "but I do not see why it should not enter any one of the fields normally covered by the human intellect, and eventually compete on equal terms."

Turing kept secret the actual operating principle of the machine. The apparatus consists of complex rows of electrical units, a tangle of wires and panels of bulbs, tubes and valves.

Repair Work Advances On Dayton-Salem Road

Unionvale—Road repair work on Dayton-Salem highway No. 221, with exception of sealing coat of oil and crushed rock to be put on at the expiration of a 10 days period, has been completed. The D-H paving company of Vancouver, Wash., had charge of the work.

Since the freezing and winter rain, places estimated between 12 and 15 miles in the highway have been next to impassable.

Air Assault On Mosquitoes

An air invasion of the strongholds of Salem mosquitoes was under way Saturday by arrangement of City Manager J. L. Franzen with the Ace Flying Service.

The attack on insects is centered on Willamette slough, but is also extending a mile up the river and into the Odd Fellows cemetery, now known as Pioneer cemetery.

Last year the mosquitoes were attacked by the hand method. But that was too slow and not very effective. Also there was a larger area to cover for the reason that some stagnant pools had been left in the north part of the city. This year those spots are dry.

The reason for spraying the cemetery is that receptacles containing water have been left about the plot and are breeding places for the insects.

The spray being used is known as Vapatox, which has an oil base and contains DDT. It is not detrimental to clothing, which has been a matter of some worry to persons living nearby.

The pilots who did the spraying were Dick Poet and Bob Morris. Ace Demers, operator of the flying service, sent in a spraying plane from the mountains where he is doing a forest spraying service, according to Mrs. Demers, who is operating the dusting service out of Salem.

Cleveland Pitcher Hit in Head by Ball

Cleveland, June 11 (AP)—Pitcher Steve Gromek of the Cleveland Indians suffered a contusion on the left side of his head when hit by a batted ball in pre-game practice today.

Team Physician Edward Castle said, however, that X-rays showed no fracture and that Gromek would be able to play again in a day or two. He advised Gromek not to start in either of tomorrow's two games against the New York Yankees.

Gromek was standing along third base batting fungo flies while the rest of the team was having batting practice.

A line drive off the bat of Joe Gordon hit him on the left side of his head and he dropped to the ground.

Chen Cheng Appeals for American Aid to Formosa

Taipei, Formosa, June 11 (AP)—Gen. Chen Cheng, new nationalist governor of Formosa, appealed today for American aid to help him build up this island's defenses and democracy.

He said in an exclusive interview that he had made up his mind to defend the island, 125 miles off the China coast, against possible Chinese communist attack.

"But we will need help," he said. "The country that may and can help us is the United States. We welcome American aid but if it is not forthcoming, I am determined to defend Formosa without it."

Two-fold Assignment
Chen, former nationalist chief of staff and a close associate of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek said his new assignment was two-fold—to defend the island while developing its economy and providing it with an efficient government "to prove the nationalists can offer the people more than the communists."

Under a plan developed by K. C. Wu, former mayor of Shanghai, the nationalists hope to transfer $54,000,000 in American ECA funds from the mainland to Formosa to develop agriculture, electric power, transportation and communications.

Nationalist leaders say they plan to overhaul their government in an effort to establish an efficient democracy to combat communism.

Most observers do not believe the communists will attack Formosa, the title to which must await the signing of the Japanese peace treaty, but the nationalists say they want to be prepared in case the Reds do come.

'Died Twice' But Still Living

Baltimore, June 11 (AP)—The story of a man who "died" twice on the operating table and came back to life both times after a surgeon massaged his heart was told here today.

Physicians said the 49-year-old patient's heart and respiration stopped for 20 minutes at one time and nine at another.

The man, James W. Stanek, entered Maryland general hospital for a hernia operation on Wednesday.

This is the story of what followed as told by Dr. Joseph V. Castagna:

Stanek, a printer, was given the customary pre-operative physical checkup and his heart and lungs were reported in normal condition.

He was given a commonly-used anesthetic and shortly afterwards his breathing stopped, as did his heartbeat.

Dr. Castagna made an incision in the chest and began gently massaging the heart.

"According to all the rules," the doctor said, "this man was dead."

Twenty minutes after the heart stopped it began to respond under the massage. Then, just as signs of life returned, they began to disappear. Nurses and doctors started filing out of the operating room, but the surgeon continued his work.

Again, the signs of life began returning. The heartbeat and respiration picked up.

Stanek was placed in an oxygen tent, where he remained unconscious until yesterday morning.
