

Court to Hear Arkansas Case

Washington, June 13 (AP)—In actions today the supreme court: Agreed to review during its October term the validity of an Arkansas law under which picketing—as during a strike—can be held a criminal offense if violence occurs. The CIO asked for the review on the grounds that the law has hindered organization efforts.

Agreed to rule next term on the legality of an anti-communist program adopted by Los Angeles county to determine the loyalty of county workers. The program requires employers to say whether (a) they have been members of any organization which advocated forcible overthrow of the government or (b) ever had "supported or followed" a long list of organizations or the Daily Worker and the New Masses.

Refused to reconsider its recent 5 to 4 decision that a speaker may not be punished for making remarks that stir people to answer and unrest. The case involved the Rev. Arthur W. Terminiello, a Catholic priest under suspension at the time of a 1946 Chicago speech which resulted in a riotous outbreak. The city of Chicago had asked reconsideration of the court's action freeing the priest from a disorderly conduct conviction. He had been billed as "the Father Coughlin of the south."

Refused to reconsider a decision permitting the government to bring a tidelands oil suit against Louisiana. The decision also applied to Texas, but that state did not ask reconsideration.

Ruled 5 to 3 that Pelham G. Woodhouse, the British author, must pay $13,651 in American income taxes on $127,000 he received from publishers in this country in 1938 and 1941. The decision, in which Justice Douglas took no part, overturned a finding by the U.S. circuit court in Baltimore that the payments represented proceeds from the sale of personal property.

Evans Held for Murder in '46

Klamath Falls, June 13 (AP)—L. W. Evans, a former Tulelake restaurant operator, was held in the Siskiyou county jail today, booked for the murder of Charles Twigg in the notorious El Rancho Tule murder case of March 3, 1946.

Evans is also charged with conspiracy to commit burglary. He has been in the custody of Oregon and California officers since June 4, when he was picked up near Pendleton. Twigg, a 57-year-old crippled nightwatchman, was brutally murdered when the night club, located at the California line 30 miles south of Klamath Falls, was robbed of about $13,000. Twigg's body, bound with wire, was found on the night club dance floor. His head had been crushed.

The arrest of Evans is the first made in the 39 months of investigation of the crime. The complaint was signed by James H. Brownfield, Klamath Falls, who in 1946 was owner of El Rancho Tule.

City Prisoner Escapes From Work Crew

A city prisoner, Willard Wesley Thorne, escaped Monday morning from a jailhouse work crew which had been taken out to the airport area.

Thorne was arrested on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants on June 6. The next day he was committed to jail under a conviction which called for a fine of $250 and 30 days in prison.

Failure to pay the fine meant that Thorne was due to serve a total of 155 days. He had served less than a full week when he took off from the work gang.

Bruce MacDonald, Salem high school graduate, who wins Yale scholarship.

Scholarship To Yale Won

Bruce MacDonald, 420 North 20th street, graduate this year of Salem high school, is announced as the first student in Salem to be awarded one of the scholarships to Yale university given by the alumni of that institution.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm MacDonald. The scholarship is one of eight in Oregon. Oliver Huston, who represents the Yale alumni in the Willamette valley, said the award is based on all-around qualifications in scholarships, athletics and leadership. MacDonald made an exceptional showing in mathematics and science, has his letter in track, and has been president of the H-Y, the Letterman's club, and the Sophomore class. He has paid much of his school expenses by working in canneries during the summer.

The college entrance examinations on which the awards were based were held in Salem this year for the first time. The scholarship amounts to $1100 a year for four years. In addition a student is given opportunity to work for his board if he desires. Huston said that a student hoping to qualify for the award should look ahead two years during his high school course to assure sufficient credits.

Jones Returns From Canada

Farm representatives of the United States, Canada, western Europe, Asia and Africa were represented at a 10-day session of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers ending Saturday in Guelph, Ontario, Ronald E. Jones of Brooks reports upon his return.

Jones, who is president of the Oregon Farmers' Union, was the only one attending from the various countries, he said, possibly 100 were from outside the United States.

"One of the objectives is to get a plan of distribution organized through the United Nations for the handling of surpluses that will not work a hardship on the farmers of the different countries," he said.

"One of the problems is a feeling among western Europeans that they are going to be faced with the job of feeding all their people when the Marshall plan comes to an end. This is serious because of the money shortage, and it points to the need of an exchange plan through the UN."

The meeting was held on the campus of Ontario Agricultural college, and was presided over by Sir James Turner, president of the National Farmers' Union of England.

Mrs. Bates Dies At Residence

Funeral services will be held at the Clough-Barrick chapel Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock for Mrs. Frances Denham Bates, 82, who died Sunday at her residence at 930 North Summer street. Interment will be in Belcrest Memorial park and officiating at the services will be Rev. Chester W. Hamblin.

Mrs. Bates, widow of the late James P. Bates, employe of the state printing department here for 25 years, had suffered a stroke six weeks ago.

Resident of Salem since 1922, Mrs. Bates was born at Montreal, Canada, February 8, 1867, and moved with her family to Chicago. In Chicago, November 17, 1897, she was married to James P. Bates, who died in 1948. The couple moved to Idaho in 1910 and came to Salem from there. She was a member of the First Presbyterian church here.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Annie Eoff of Richmond, Calif., Mrs. Laura Eaton of Salem, Mrs. Frances Cable of Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. Ruth Wilson and Mrs. Cathryn Brink of Pacific Palisades; four sons, Harry S. Bates of San Francisco, Fred Bates of Redlands, Arthur B. Bates of Salem and Robert W. Bates of Santa Monica; a sister, Miss Minnie Scott of Evanston, Ill.; 21 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren.

Connie Cross Salem Entry In Seaside Beauty Contest

Miss Connie Cross was officially selected Monday as Salem's entry in the Oregon Miss America contest which will be held at Seaside July 21, 22 and 23.

Miss Cross will be sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce which has asked the Cherrians and the Salem Cherryland Festival association to carry the competition by the Salem entry through to completion.

The selection was made at a noon luncheon at the Golden Pheasant attended by Manager Pheasant Cochran of the Chamber of Commerce, King Bing Deryl Myers of the Cherrians, Sidney Stevens, president of the festival association, Stanley Keith of the Miller Mercantile company, Miss Cross and Mrs. Mary Royley of the Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Cross is an employe of the Miller store. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olin Cross, 2370 Fairgrounds road. She is 21 years old, is 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighs 120 pounds, and is of fair complexion.

Her hobby is reading, her favorite sport is swimming and she prefers a vegetable diet. The annual contest at Seaside for the title of Miss Oregon entitles the winner to compete at Atlantic City for the title of Miss America.

The contestants are to arrive in Seaside July 21 with chaperones, and must have evening gowns, civilian attire and bathing suits.

Morse in his telegram said he had conferred with officials in the commercial policy division of the state department on the reciprocal trade program as it relates to Italy and they advised that no definite decision has been reached as to the cherry tariff policy. He said he had asked that department in event there is no chance of reduction in tariff to issue a statement to that effect to prevent eastern buyers from using it as a club to knock down the price.

Planes Return To Spray Forest

Ace's Flying Service Monday started its second week of spraying the Mt. Hood forest with an oil-DDT solution for budworm control.

Last week-end found the 12 planes, all from the Salem firm, completing 66,000 acres of spraying of the budworm-infested forest, according to Ace Demers, who today flew in briefly for supplies needed at the spraying site.

Last week another 10,000 acres was added to the original 96,000 acres for which Demers' firm was granted a contract. If permission can be secured by the forest service in that area another 10,000 acres will also be added.

The length of time needed to complete the job depends on how fast the solution, supplied by truck tanker by Pennsylvania Salt company and hauled from Portland, arrives. It is planned now to finish the spraying within the next three days.

The planes, 10 of them are used for spraying, two for observation, can spray from 15,000 to 20,000 acres a day. Penn Salt has been supplying approximately 10,000 gallons a day. Fifteen men, half of them supplied by Demers and half by the U. S. forest service, are kept busy on the ground preparing the solution for use by the planes.

13 Year Old Girl Rescues 2 Boys

Artie Louise Thompson, a 13-year-old Salem girl, was listed Monday in first aid crew reports as the quick-thinking youngster who pulled two young boys to safety from Pingle creek.

The boys, Donald and Paul McKay, 1565 S. Church, were tossed into the water when a raft capsized. The older boy, Donald, 11, attempted to swim, but was pulled under by his 8-year-old brother.

Artie, seeing the trouble, jumped in and pulled the children out. First aid was called and administered oxygen to
