Avoid Constant Use Of Laxatives

By
J. N. WILLET
of the Capital Drug Store

An easy and dangerous habit to acquire is that of taking laxatives. Constant use tends to reduce the natural process of digestion and bring about other physical disturbances.

Digestive disorders are best treated by a doctor who may recommend beneficial changes in diet or exercise, or suggest a non-habit forming medicine that will temporarily aid elimination.

Guard your digestive tract from harsh laxatives that were never intended for continuous use.

Buy medication your doctor advises from a pharmacist who stocks fresh, potent, pure drugs.
