To Modernize More Carriers

Washington, June 22 (AP)—The navy is getting a longer-reaching, harder-hitting air arm. This was the explanation in naval circles today for the carrier modernization plans announced by Secretary of Defense Johnson yesterday with President Truman's approval. The flight decks of existing carriers are being "beefed up," the ships' elevators are being enlarged and their catapults given greater capacity, to handle new long-range patrol bombers and the big jet fighters with high landing and take-off speeds. With the tempo increased all around, the navy is even putting in escalators to speed the airmen to their planes. Johnson announced yesterday that this sort of conversion has been authorized for two more 27,000-ton carriers. Their names were not disclosed, but they will come from the reserve fleet. The cost of the work was estimated by navy experts at about $80,000,000 for the two. Johnson said the money would be saved through cancellation of planes to build a 65,000-ton supercarrier. Its cost would have been at least $189,000,000 and perhaps considerably more.

Pickets Posted At Two Plants

The Salem Millmen's union local 1411 had put picket lines around the Keith Brown Lumber Yard and the Keith Brown Building Supplies companies and the lumber division of the Oregon Pulp and Paper company today. Layoff notices were posted April 25 at the Keith Brown establishments when four local plants of the Woodworkers Employers association closed down. The millmen's union has demanded a wage boost of 17 1/2 cents an hour. Last week the members unanimously rejected an employers association offer of 1 1/2 cents increase. F. D. Van Swearingen, executive secretary of the Salem building trades council, said: "It will be 17 1/2 cents or no one will go back to work now. More than 80 per cent of the Millmen's union are employed by shops who have accepted the 17 1/2 cents increase, and most of the remaining 20 per cent are working at other jobs." There is work stoppage also at the Salem Willamette Supply and at Reinholdt & Lewis plants, but pickets have not yet been posted.

Dr. Crooks Talks Philosophy of Life

A philosophy of life that comes of having lived long and has been full of associations was expressed by Dr. Harry Crooks, of Hood River, Ore., during Wednesday Rotary club luncheon. The former president of Albany college and of Alma college, Mich., entitled his philosophy the "Amateur Spirit." Speaking in humorous vein, underlain with serious emphasis, Dr. Crooks described the amateur as the "one who plays the game for the sake of the game." The speaker said he was in favor of the profit system, especially when the profits enriched his own purse. "It's as old as the hills and pride of ownership is something that should be continued," he said. However, he hastened to add, the fun derived from the processes of living is something that one cannot lose. Satisfaction acquired through human relations cannot be taken away, Dr. Crooks stated.

Fire Sweeps Packing Plant

Medford, Ore., June 22 (AP)—Fire swept through a half-block-long fruit storage building today, destroying all of the structure except its brick and concrete walls.

Some pears were in the building but the amount was in question. Damage estimate awaited inspection of the ruins by H. B. Murphy, manager of the Pineapple Packing company. The structure was known as the company's plant No. 4. The fire, which broke out shortly after 2 a.m., laid a pall of smoke over the entire city. No other buildings were endangered but an overhead conveyor spanning railroad tracks to another of the company's plants was charred. Murphy said the plant would be rebuilt and might be in operation by Aug. 1. He and Reginald Parsons, Seattle, are principal owners of the company.

Indian Tribes Sign Peace Pact

Yakima, Wash., June 22 (AP)—Northwest Indians got out their peace pipes and their pens here yesterday. Peace, friendship and mutual assistance are pledged in a treaty signed here by representatives of nine northwest Indian tribes. The document is said to be the first formal inter-tribal agreement drawn in modern Indian history. Tribesmen from Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington are meeting here for the annual conference of the affiliated northwest Indian tribes. Aging sons of the chiefs who resisted the westward expansion of the white in the 19th century who were among those who signed. Although none of his tribesmen on the Yakima Indian reservation has yet signed, Cleveland Kamiakin, son of Chief Kamiakin, last warrior leader of the Yakimas, affixed his thumb print to bind members of his tribe, now living on the Colville reservation in north central Washington. Alex Saluskin, Yakima reservation delegate, asked to have the treaty ratified by his tribesmen before signing it. Other signers represented the Flathead tribe of Montana, the Kootenai, Shoshone-Bannock and Nez Perce tribes of Idaho, Cayuse of Oregon and the Colville, Spokane, Skokomish and Nooksack tribes of Washington.

Salem's Largest Beam—Reinforced concrete beam, now being poured by L. H. Hoffman, contractor for the Capitol street shopping center, is 116 feet long, 15 high and 13 inches thick. This massive beam that carries the roof and front of the building required 265,400 pounds of concrete and 13 1/2 tons of steel. Use of this construction eliminates need for center posts.

Petrillo Urges Repeal of T. H. Bill and Raps Lewis

Washington, June 22 (AP)—Senate sponsors of a compromise labor bill claimed the support of the "great mass" of American workers today following a message of encouragement from James C. Petrillo. Petrillo, president of the AFL American Federation of Musicians, praised the efforts of Senators Douglas (D., Ill.), and Aiken (R., Vt.), to get "the best kind of bill possible to get." He told them 98 per cent of organized labor would follow them. The two senators are fighting for a compromise proposal providing for government seizure of industries in critical strikes. Petrillo lashed out at John L. Lewis. He charged the coal miners' leader with a "betrayal of labor" for urging a "rule or ruin" policy of no compromise and because he called two strikes while congress was debating the labor bill—much to the "delight," Petrillo said, of Senator Taft (R., Ohio). Taft is opposing the Douglas-Aiken plan, in favor of a combined seizure-injunction proposal. Douglas told reporters Petrillo's telegram is "greatly gratifying," and added:

"I am sure Mr. Petrillo expressed the sentiments of the great mass of American workers." Aiken said Petrillo is "the first labor leader to come out in the open and recognize the situation as it is." Meantime, the senate debate was going along leisurely, which pleased some senators, but irked others. Senator Morse (R., Ore.), still has not finished a speech he started Monday. He is not in any hurry. Yesterday Morse sat around all day and waited while the senate devoted 6 1/2 hours to economy, government reorganization, the maritime commis-
