Second School Election Set

Dallas — A second special school election, calling for a bond issue of $15,000 has been set by the Buell school district board for an addition to the school. The date of the election will be July 12 at the schoolhouse.

First election held last Tuesday, June 14, resulted in a 14 to 14 tie. In the case of a tie it is necessary to call a second election.

According to the directors, a basement room has been condemned and the school faces loss of basic support funds unless the condition is remedied.

While only 28 voters cast ballots at the special election to improve the school, the district proved three to one against consolidation with Sheridan recently. Should the special issue be defeated, it may become necessary to transport students to another district. Kenneth Stewart is chairman of the district.
