

Board Rejects Berry Offer

The Oregon cane fruits control board meeting in Hubbard Monday night rejected offers of processors of 6 cents a pound for loganberries, youngberries and boysenberries and decided to adhere to a demand for 8 cents a pound fixed at a meeting of the board in Salem in mid-June.

Logans are beginning to arrive in the plants and the other berries about under way so a quick decision is required one way or another on the stand of the board which represents most of the kinds of berries named.

It was indicated by the board that grower-members would be unable to pay picking and delivery costs and come out at 6 cents a pound. An Oregon State college survey has placed a 12-cent cost on raising and harvesting logans and 11.2 cents on boysens. Light crops are predicted. California is reported to have established an 8-cent price on boysenberries.

Board members are K. D. Coomler, Brooks, president; Charles Byers, Alfred Aicher and A. L. Larson, Woodburn; George Linquist and Harold Horner, Estacada, and Alvin Van Cleave, Salem.

Final Rites Held For Dr. Wilbur

Palo Alto, Calif., June 28 (AP) — Funeral services will be held today for Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Stanford university chancellor and former secretary of the interior, at Stanford Memorial chapel.

Wilbur, distinguished as a physician, educator and humanitarian, died of a stroke Sunday. He was 74.

Services will be conducted by the Rev. D. Elton Trueblood of Richmond, Ind. While he was chaplain at Stanford five years ago, Trueblood promised Wilbur to preside at his funeral.

Stanford president Dr. Wallace Sterling will deliver a brief tribute and read a message from former President Herbert Hoover, a friend of Wilbur's since college days.

Famous Tommy Tucker Tuckered

Grand Canyon, Ariz., June 28 (AP) — Tommy Tucker, the squirrel who helped sell millions of dollars worth of bonds during the war, was dead today, the apparent victim of old age.

The squirrel's owners, Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Bullis, Washington, D.C., were vacationing here on a trailer trip when Tommy died. Mrs. Bullis rescued the pet after he fell out of a Washington, D.C., tree in 1941 and trained him to wear costumes. Mrs. Bullis, Tommy, and his wardrobe of more than 100 suits appeared in bond rallies in most of the principal cities throughout the country. He always seemed to give his best performances before school children.

Independence — Mrs. C. A. Fratzke will leave Friday morning for Sequim, Wash. She will be accompanied by her daughter, Fay, who will attend Camp Tapawingo for about a month. Mrs. Fratzke will return some time Saturday.
