

Stayton to Boston Flight Waits Winner of Contest

Stayton—Like carrying coals to Newcastle, the winner of the Santiam Bean Festival Jack of the Beanstalk contest, will fly to Boston, the city that made beans famous, to present a case of Santiam packed snap beans to Mayor James M. Curley of that city.

The contest is being conducted to select a small boy between the ages of six and eight years who will rule over the festival July 26 to 30, and be feted throughout.

Arrangements have been made for Jack's flying trip through the co-operation of United Airlines, the Associated Press and the United Press and the event will be given wide publicity with stories and pictures of the trip, according to Gene Malecki, manager of the festival.

Jack will be given an escort on his trip and will spend two days sightseeing. Eight contestants have been entered in the competition. Kenneth Ware has been sponsored by Eva Rebekah Lodge; Denny Frank, Catholic Daughters of America; Paul Freres, Stayton Garden club; Gail Elmer, American Legion auxiliary; Jackie Ditter, Sublimity sponsorship; Raymond Markham, West Stayton; Leroy Fender, Mehama; and Thumper Julian, Lyons. The story-book character has been selected as it ties in with the extensive growing of snap beans in this locality.

The boys were to appear in the Cherryland Festival parade Friday, and in the Albany Timber Carnival parade at Albany on Saturday, and the St. Paul Rodeo parade Monday. Yellow polo shirts, yellow kerchiefs and green baseball caps were selected as costumes of the candidates for these appearances.

Handbills, numbering 5000, carrying the legend "See You in Stayton" and heralding the festival, were to be distributed at the Cherryland Festival parade, while an additional 5000 will be passed out at Albany and St. Paul.

Stayton's entry in the parade of the timber carnival at Albany Saturday will be the "world's largest bean can" and Newsreel is planning to be there to take pictures of it.

Presbyterians to Have Fund Drive

Portland, July 1 (AP)—The Presbyterian synod of Oregon plans to raise $100,000 a year in 1950, 1951, and 1952.

The campaign was announced at the close of the annual meeting yesterday, to raise funds for Lewis and Clark college, Westminster foundation, and the San Francisco theological seminary. The Westminster Fellowship, a Presbyterian youth group, elected Nancy Pond, Portland, as moderator; Kent Lawrence, McMinnville, vice moderator; Stan McClellan, Klamath Falls, treasurer; Bob Southwell, Klamath Falls, commissioner.

Troops Withdrawn

Washington, July 1 (AP)—The army announced tonight that it completed withdrawal of troops from Korea "in accord with the United Nations resolution." The troops will be deployed in Hawaii and the United States the army said in its brief announcement.

Priest Charged With Gambling

Rockford, Ill., July 1 (AP)—The Rev. Raymond Patrick Gordon, a Roman Catholic priest, was arrested last night after 12 policemen raided his church to halt a bingo game.

The priest, pastor of St. Bridget's church in suburban Love's park, was charged with being a keeper of a gambling establishment. He was released on his recognizance after appearance before a justice of the peace.

Police Chief Roy York of Love's park led the raid and said several pieces of gambling equipment were seized in the church's basement. He said Andrew Pozzi and two other unidentified men were arrested on a charge of operating a gambling establishment. They were released on bonds of $120 each after appearing before a justice of the peace.

Some 50 patrons were at the church, York said, but were not taken into custody.

Trailways Bus Strike Averted

Portland, July 1 (AP)—Pacific Trailways buses were operating as usual today, after a zero-hour agreement averted a strike scheduled for last midnight.

Exactly an hour before the deadline, negotiators emerged from a conference to say they were submitting all the issues to arbitration. Wages and working conditions are involved.

Negotiators had met all day and most of last evening with Federal Conciliation Commissioner Guy V. Lintner. The strike would have involved some 90 drivers on the Portland-Salt Lake city run.

Lapham Resigns As ECA China Chief

Washington, July 1 (AP)—Roger D. Lapham resigned Thursday as chief of the Economic Cooperation Administration's Mission to China.

ECA Chief Paul G. Hoffman also announced the resignation of Robert Allen Griffin, deputy mission chief.

Lapham is former mayor of San Francisco. Griffin is of Monterey, Calif., newspaper publisher.

Both resignations are effective at once. Norman Meiklejohn, a special assistant to the China mission, has been appointed acting chief of mission.

Police Chief Quits—Chief of Police C. B. Horrall, of Los Angeles, who with Mayor Fletcher Bowron and various members of city commissions has been under fire in a grand jury vice investigation, cleans out his desk after submitting a petition for retirement. The board of pension commissioners approved the petition and set his pension at $574 monthly. His salary has been $1,040 a month. (AP Wire Photo)

PINCHED PACHYDERM POPS

Emma the Elephant Cuts Loose at the Wrong Moment

Long Beach, Calif. (AP)—Emma, five-ton circus elephant, picks the dog-gondest times to change her mind.

Tuesday night her trainer, George King, tried to get her up a ramp into an auditorium for a children's benefit performance.

But Emma, who stands nine feet seven inches high, proved to be too big to get through the tunnel-like device, so King decided he'd make her get down on her knees and crawl through.

All went well until Emma, apparently disgusted with the Lodge Greets State Leader

Stayton—Eva Rebekah Lodge No. 92, of Stayton was hostess to Mrs. Lela Ramsey of Madras, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Oregon, in the IOOF hall when she made her official visit. Mrs. Velma Limbeck, noble grand, presided, and guests were present from Silverton, Salem, Harrisburg, Junction City and Madras.

A capacity crowd witnessed the initiation of Mrs. Bessie Old into the lodge. The charter was draped for Joe Harris, a deceased member. At the close of the meeting, the state president spoke on Rebekah work.

Mrs. Ruth Wood presented young Kenneth Ware, who is the lodge's candidate for "Jack of the Beanstalk" for the Santiam Bean festival, and little Carol Jean Shower, carrying a pink and green umbrella from which a shower suspended by satin streamers, like silver rain drops.

Kenneth Ware invited the honored guests to the Santiam Bean festival July 26 to 30. In a presentation speech made by Mrs. Beulah Lessard, Carol Jean handed the gift to the president.

A song honoring the president was sung by the drill team and Carol Jean danced two numbers in costume.

Summer flowers and miniature fencing were placed about the lodge hall by the decorating committee headed by Mrs. Naomi Rowe, who was assisted by Mrs. Margaret Schaefer.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the refreshment committee, Mrs. Shirlee Darby, Mrs. Irene Rock, Mrs. Kracencia Galloway, Mrs. Velura Lierman, B. A. Schaefer and Lawrence Lierman.

A special table at which birthdays for those in April May and June, was centered by a large cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Velura Lierman.

The population of the world in 1800 is estimated at 919,000,000.

Sheriff Cracks Slot Machines

Albany, July 1—Sheriff H. A. Southard impounded three slot machines and also a blackjack (21) table plus cards, chips and other gambling paraphernalia in a surprise raid on a house just outside Mill City Wednesday.

Thursday the sheriff brought to the Linn county jail one Tex Keller, who was arrested and lodged in the Mill City jail Wednesday night on a "John Doe" warrant charging possession of gambling devices. He was slated to appear before Justice of the Peace Harlow L. Weinrick late Thursday.

Southard and his deputy George Miller, acted on information received early Wednesday. They went to a house on the old Gates road and found the place ready for business, but unoccupied. The two law enforcement officers then seized all the gambling equipment set up and waiting for action, loaded and impounded it.

Famed Sculptor Dies In North Hollywood

North Hollywood, July 1 (AP)—Sculptor Richard Walter Bock is dead at the age of 83.

The German-born Bock was known for his Civil war monuments, including the state soldiers and sailors group at Shiloh, Tenn. He had done architectural work with Frank Lloyd Wright and taught sculpture at the University of Oregon from 1929 to 1932.

Like to meet a Capitalist?

1. Bill Ryan, 55, is foreman mechanic at the Dominguez Water Company in Long Beach, California. He and Mrs. Ryan live in a company bungalow at the main plant. Bill went to work for the company as a mechanic in 1923 and has been with them ever since. He is also one of the owners of Union Oil Company.

2. In 1940 he started buying Union Oil stock. Today he owns 100 shares. At the present market his stock is worth over $3,000. He could sell it for that tomorrow if he chose. $3,000 would buy many things the Ryans could use. Among other projects, they're looking for a home of their own; Bill would like to add to his home movie equipment; and Mrs. Ryan has some ideas about furniture.

3. But the Ryans have chosen to invest that money in oil wells, tools and refineries that make gasoline for other people instead of spending it on things they could use themselves. Naturally, they are entitled to some compensation for this. For you can't eat, live in, ride on or use your share of an oil company. In fact, the investment doesn't even entitle you to free gasoline.

4. So our American system offers people who put their money into "tools" instead of "goods" a reward in the form of dividends—whenever the company makes a profit. Last year Union Oil dividends amounted to $1.95 per share. So the Ryans got $195.00 from their holdings. This is within $72.00 of what the average Union Oil common-stock holder got in 1948.

5. For Union Oil Company is owned not by one man, or two, but by 34,229 common-stock holders like the Ryans and 2,085 holders of preferred stock. The average common-stock holder owns just 137 shares—the average preferred-stock holder 120 shares. Naturally, some stockholders own more than this average, some less.

6. But the largest individual Union Oil stockholder owns only 1% of the total stock. So the profits of Union Oil—and most American corporations—don't go to a few millionaires. They are split up among thousands of average American capitalists like the Ryans—capitalists whose combined savings have made Union Oil and most of our American corporations possible.
