

Mayor Lee Believes Anti-vice Campaign to Be Permanent

Portland, Ore., July 5 (AP)—Mayor Dorothy McCullough Lee believes that the people of Portland regard her anti-vice campaign as a permanent fixture and believe that law enforcement is here to stay.

She is not interested in the possible political implications of her crusade against slot machines, punchboards and other media of gambling and vice.

"It is a constant, continual program which will go on as long as I am in office," Mrs. Lee said.

She prefers the word "program" to "campaign" because she said, it was merely a part of her "Desire to give the city good, sensible government."

"I do not have any way of knowing what the political implications might be, nor am I interested," she said.

Mrs. Lee's "fan mail" from the public showed general approval of her policies in the early stages of her administration. Now, she says, she receives virtually no public comment on down on gambling did not affect the subject.

Mayor Lee said the crack-the-city-revenue to any appreciable extent, although it cut down on punchboard revenue slightly.

"Punchboards" revenue of $125,000 amounted to nothing when the city needed $3,000,000," she said. She commented that the city made no revenue whatever from the millions of dollars amassed by gamblers.

While she considers the anti-vice program an important part of Portland's administration, she believes that housing and city finance are of more current interest.

"Lack of sufficient housing, especially as a result of the Vanport flood disaster, and the necessity of finding a additional sources of revenue for the city are greatly overshadowing the law enforcement program," she said.

Mayor Lee also has financial problems of her own. She receives a salary set by the city of Portland in 1913 "which probably was quite adequate at that time, but doesn't leave any leeway at the present time."

Teachers Oppose Loyalty Test

Boston, July 5 (AP)—Representatives of approximately 350,000 of the nation's school teachers adopted a resolution last night opposing loyalty oaths for teachers.

The unanimous action of 800 delegates—members of the department of classroom teachers—was taken at a meeting held in conjunction with the 87th annual convention of the National Education Association.

The resolution said the department "deplores the growing practice of enacting discriminatory legislation that singles out teachers."

Speaking for the resolution, Miss Hilda Maehling of Washington, D. C., executive secretary of the classroom group, said:

"If we are going to have loyalty oaths, then everybody should have them."

Drill Team Award to Eagle Team Closes 1949 Festival

Salem's 1949 Cherryland festival ended Saturday night with a drill team and drum and bugle corps contest at the Oregon state Fair grounds and awarded the Governor's cup for the unit giving the best exhibit was the women's drill team from Portland Eagles aerie No. 4.

Presentation of the cup, a perpetual trophy that must be won by the same unit for three consecutive years to become its permanent property, was made by Gov. Douglas McKay, who was escorted by a group of Cherrians. In the afternoon contest held at the Fair grounds first place also went to the Portland group with 92 points. In second place was the Elks ladies' drill team from Portland with 88.3 points and a close third was the Sheridan women's drill team from the Sheridan Eagles, 86.2 points.

These awards, along with others, were made at the Saturday night show. Other awards were first place in men's drill teams to the Medford Eagles and special awards to the Rodeoettes from Sheridan and the Northwest Drum Majorettes from Portland.

During the evening a trophy donated by Salem business men was also presented as a special award to the Eagles junior drum and bugle corps from Salem, which had just returned

New Party for Townsendites

Columbus, O., July 5 (AP)—The first steps in the creation of a new political party were taken by followers of Dr. Frances E. Townsend, originator of the "Townsend Plan" during the depression years.

Organization of the party was given a green light here yesterday in a brief but biting resolution passed by the Townsend Clubs of America convention, which berated the republican and democratic parties for their "do-nothing attitudes" toward a national insurance program.

Townsend's plan would give from state competition in Portland.

The Saturday night show was opened with the entry parade just following the arrival of Queen Patricia and her court. Leading the parade was a color guard from the marine corps and naval reserves here with massed colors from patriotic and fraternal organizations from Salem and surrounding area following.

Making their first public appearance at the show was the newly organized drum and bugle corps from Capital post No. 9, American Legion.

Silverton Pastor Submits Resignation

Silverton, July 5—Resignation of Rev. M. J. K. Fuhr, announced to the congregation of the Trinity Lutheran church Sunday, came as a complete surprise. He has accepted a call to Arlington, Wash., in the Puget Sound area and his successor is expected to be named at the quarterly conference of the congregation July 13.

Rev. Fuhr has been pastor of the church for 13 years, coming here with his family from San Diego, Calif.

While church rules require a notice of three months, Rev. Fuhr asked that this be shortened if possible as he is anxious to locate in his new home in time for his youngest daughter to enter school in the fall.

Senator William Blount of Tennessee was named in the first impeachment proceedings before the senate—in 1798—and the charges were dismissed for want of jurisdiction.

Frances Langford, Husband Are Sued

Hollywood, July 5 (AP)—Singer Frances Langford and her husband, Actor Jon Hall, today faced a superior court suit brought by an advertising man who says they owe him $4,510.

William G. Chamberlain charged he performed work and advanced money for advertising in connection with the Hall's Clover Leaf Aviation Company. Only $87 of a $4,597 bill was paid, he said.
