'Five Percenters' in National Capital From Wartime Peak

Washington (AP)—How many "Five Per Centers" are doing business in Washington? And what is the government doing about them?

The consensus is that "management counselors" or "manufacturer's representatives" who work on a percentage-of-business basis have dropped from a wartime and post war peak of more than 200 to considerably less than 100.

Veteran Sea Captain Dies

Yonkers, N.Y., July 5 (AP)—Capt. George Fried, 71, master of some of America's biggest ocean liners, died yesterday.

Captain of the old Leviathan, America, George Washington and President Roosevelt, Fried was a central figure in many thrilling sea rescues.

While he captained the old America, the ship rescued 32 men from the Italian freighter Florida in a gale off Virginia.

In command of the President Roosevelt in 1926, he went to the aid of the stricken British freighter Antiope in a North Atlantic gale, and lost two of his crew rescuing the freighter's company.

In 1932, two years before he retired, Fried took the Roosevelt to the rescue of Lou Reichers, forced down in the sea by a cracked wing when he tried to fly the Atlantic.

Fried became supervising inspector of the U.S. bureau of navigation and steamboat inspection after his retirement.

Leopold Loses Again

Brussels, Belgium, July 5 (AP)—Social Christian Paul Vax Zeeland gave up today his attempt to form a government which would have ended Prince Charles' regency and returned King Leopold to the throne.

His decision came after a second and final refusal of the liberals to enter a social christian-liberal coalition, whose first goal would have been to bring King Leopold back from his exile in Switzerland.

HELP FROM ALL RELIGIONS

Two Nuns From France Learn Kindliness of U. S.

Bethlehem, Conn. (AP)—Two nuns, their hearts filled with faith and prayer, pulled up their roots in France and overcame seemingly impossible odds to bring a bit of the old monastic world to this country.

On the top of Bird's Eye View Hill about 10 miles from Waterbury, amidst the rolling terrain of the town of Bethlehem, a monastery for Benedictine nuns of the Strict Observance, the only of its kind in the United States, stands as a monument to this faith.

The story of the monastery, which gives comfort to all—rich or poor, Catholic, Protestant and Jew—is the story of two nuns—soft-spoken Mother Benedict Duss, a native American, and Donna Marie Aline, who were hunted by Nazis during the war.

The nuns feel that all the good things which have happened to them since their arrival in Connecticut three years ago, including donations of land and money for their abbey, have been miracles of St. Benedict, who founded their order 14 centuries ago.

The monastery is now the home of many nuns, but thousands of dollars are yet needed to complete Regina Laudis Abbey (The Abbey of the Queen of Praise). There is no doubt in the hearts of the two founders that one day will rise on Bethlehem hill a full monastery, much like the abbey in Mieux, France, from which they came.

State police said the Taylorcraft took off from the lake, hit a downdraft and then plunged into the ground near the water's edge. The impact tore off one wing and hurled the engine through the fuselage.

Young Flier Injured At Lake of Woods

Klamath Falls, Ore., July 5 (AP)—Two youthful flyers were injured yesterday when their light plane hit a downdraft and crashed at Lake of the Woods, 35 miles northeast of here.

Injured were 23-year-old H. J. Rathe, Klamath Falls, and his companion, Jeannette Johnson, 23, of Portland. They were rushed to a hospital here and were expected to recover.

State police said the Taylorcraft took off from the lake, hit a downdraft and then plunged into the ground near the water's edge. The impact tore off one wing and hurled the engine through the fuselage.

Four Killed as Top Of Building Falls

Pittsburgh, July 5 (AP)—The top of a building thundered down on a group of pedestrians out for a stroll on the city's north-side Federal street last night. The barrage of bricks, mortar and heavy neon signs killed four and injured eight.

Four of the injured were listed as "critical" at Allegheny General hospital.

The dead were T. J. McGee, abbey and high church officials in Rome. Mother Benedict and Donna Marie Aline set out for America.

Through the aid of a Waterbury priest they met in France, they were introduced to two Bethlehem residents who offered them shelter.

Arriving penniless but undaunted, the nuns met a retired industrialist who became interested in their mission. Robert Leather, a Protestant, offered Mother Benedict and her companion 50 acres of rolling land as a starter.

Finding it difficult to believe such generosity, Mother Benedict and Donna Aline went to the top of the hill which was to become a monastery and there beneath a small fir tree buried a medal of St. Benedict and marked the spot with stones in the form of a cross.

Then things began to pop. Two unexpected sources each contributed $10,000. Others donated heating system, while still others offered furniture and help.

Now, behind the high wall which surrounds their monastery, the nuns and postulantes till the fields, milk cows and feed chickens. Others weave, make ceramics and sketch. Their day begins at 2 a.m. and is interspersed with prayer.

No one is ever turned away from the abbey where visitors come to rest and meditate in the quiet of the Connecticut hilltop.
