Truman Plan to Retire Taft Jolted

plans of President Truman and organized labor leaders to retire Sen. Robert A. Taft to private life have been jolted somewhat by failure of any strong Ohio mocrat so far to demand the to oppose him in next year's election.

Taft's political prospects definitely are looking up. He won a great personal victory last eek when the senate passed a labor-management bill which he practically dictated. He has be-come the principal policy spokesman for the republican party and will continue to shape its general policy right through the 1950 congressional election

If Taft is returned to the sen ate by a substantial margin, only the worst kind of subsequent political breaks could prevent being a formidable contes-for the 1952 republican presidential nomination. If he politically finished. The republican party will swing to new policies and new leaders and, especially, toward major modifi cation of the labor-management

Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio has told associates he would not run against Taft next year. That is a good break for Taft. Lausche plans to run again for governor As governor of Ohio, he would be well placed strategically to get a spot on the 1952 democratpresidential ticket. He is
