

Lefty McIrvine Tosses 2-1 Overtime Win for Senators

No one could expect a fellow who has ridden the bench for half a season to have perfect control and that was the case of Cal McIrvine, redheaded, left-handed chucker who returned to the Salem Senators in a trade that sent Ray McNulty to the Portland Beavers.

Cal indicated he wanted work and Manager Bill Beard accommodated him by sending him out against the Wenatchee Chiefs Tuesday night as the two clubs opened a series of three games. His wildness (10 walks and four wild pitches) was responsible for the only tally the Chiefs could manage as the Senators won in 11 innings 2 to 1, thanks to a home run over the right field fence by Wayne Peterson. The blow, so near the base line that there was doubt as to whether it would be foul or fair until it disappeared in the darkness high over the barrier, came as the last half of the 11th opened. There could have been no more fitting climax to a tight struggle and the 1146 customers went home well satisfied.

The loss was charged up against Lou McCollum, a right handed flinger who previously had had little difficulty in handling the Senators this season. He was hit freely and the Senators had men on base in every frame except the fifth and 10th as they collected an even dozen blows.

Four consecutive walks in the second gave the Chiefs their run. With the bases still loaded McIrvine fanned Lee Winter and forced McCollum to ground into a double play. Three bases on balls filled the bags again in the fourth with two out but the Chiefs, able to get but four hits off McIrvine, were retired when Clyde Haskell flew out. A single, a walk and a wild pitch placed runners on second and third in the sixth but again Haskell produced the third out as he grounded to Wayne Peterson.

Cal gained control as the innings unwound and he retired the side in order in the 10th and 11th. Unable to hit in the clutch the Senators were kept from scoring through six innings as McCollum bore down when the situation grew threatening. But when Roy Carlson opened the seventh with a double off the left field boards, fans felt the time had come and their belief was justified even though McIrvine and Wayne Peterson were easy outs on successive pop-ups. Carlson galloped home a moment later as Marty Krug drove a single just out of Hal Rhyne's reach at first.

That ended the scoring on both sides until Wayne Peterson came through with his circuit smash—his sixth of the season.

Crofoot Pitches Randle Victory; Maples Win Too

With Percy Crofoot pitching 10 strikeout ball while giving up but three hits, Randle Oil won over Knights of Columbus, 7-2 Tuesday night in City league softball competition. Campbell Rock Wool, unable to field more than seven players, forfeited to Marine Reserves. An exhibition game resulted in a 6-4 win for Rock Wool.

The Knights tallied twice in the first frame but Crofoot went to work after that and came through with flying colors. A five run scoring bee in the second, gave Randle's a lead that wasn't threatened.

Maple Dairy swamped Interstate, 11 to 2 in an Industrial league encounter that went but five innings.

Yakima, Wash., July 13 (U.P.)—Action on a move to transfer Wenatchee's Western International league baseball franchise to Kennewick, Wash., today awaited a conference of club owners and league officials.
The possibility that such a transfer would be made was announced here last night at a W.I. meeting by team representatives and league president, Robert Able.
Wenatchee co-owners Dick Richards and Orin "Babe" Hollingberry pointed out that the Chiefs only drew about 81,000 home town fans last year, and that a club doesn't start to pay off until attendance passes 100,000. Attendance this season is falling below that of 1948.
Cold weather kept cash customers from the ball park during the early part of the season.
If the franchise is transferred to Kennewick, fans could be drawn from the expanding Pasco-Kennewick-Richland area, booming because of the Hanford atomic plant's location there.
Richards, business manager for the Chiefs, also mentioned the possibility of transferring the franchise to Klamath Falls, or Eugene, Ore., or Bellingham or Aberdeen, Wash.
Unconfirmed reports were being circulated here that the Tri-City Athletic association has already started to raise 75,000 to build a ball park for a Western International league entry.

Still Coaches Tennis After 50-Year Career

Santa Monica, Calif. (U.P.)—May Sutton Bundy, Wimbledon singles champion in 1905 and 1907, still bounds around like a school-girl, gives tennis lessons and supervises a large family.

It has been 50 years since she won the Southern California women's singles championship and went on in later years to capture tennis' highest honors as a member of a four-sister team of "tennis-playing Suttons."

From 1900 to 1917, either May Sutton or one of her sisters, Ethel, Violet or Florence, took the Southern California singles championships.

Today, May, daughter of a British sea captain who settled here in 1898, teaches regular tennis classes at a girls' school and occasionally gives private tutoring at local tennis clubs.

"You have to teach the game to play it and know it well," she said. "There so much difference."

In looking back on her athletic career, Mrs. Bundy says winning at Wimbledon was her biggest thrill. At that time, the British crown was considered to be the world championship honor.

After winning in 1907 she retired, married and had a family of four children, one of whom is Dorothy Bundy, a tennis star known from Melbourne, Australia, to Paris.

Mrs. Bundy's three sons, Bill, Nathan, and Tom, starred at football, golf and swimming.

Tennis doesn't occupy all the former women's Wimbledon champion's life at all. Her family and her two grand children really come first.

But she misses the "good old days" and recalls with pride the old matches at Santa Monica's casino courts where the spectators drank tea, bands played between matches and "everything was scrumptious."

TOO CUTE! Feller Due for Comeback

New York, July 13 (U.P.)—Getting "too cute" developing a new pitch caused the downfall of Bobby Feller, all-star catcher Birdie Tebbetts asserted today, but the Boston Red Sox backstop insisted that bullet Bob still had his fast one and was on the way back.

The blocky Birdie, who still thinks that his Red Sox mates will come on to win the American League pennant, doesn't hold with the critics who believe that Feller is through as a star pitcher.

"Trying to throw a slider, being too cute, hurt Feller," Tebbetts explained. "And, while his fast one may not have the old time hop, it still is plenty fast enough."

Birdie's theory was that Feller hurt his arm using the slider when he didn't need it.

"The slider is a resistance pitch," he argued. "Where a curve takes only the wrist or the elbow, a slider puts a strain both there and on the shoulder. Feller had all he needed in a curve, a fast ball and a change of pace. That slider put a strain on his shoulder and hurt his fast ball."

Tebbetts said that in one game against the Red Sox last season Feller didn't throw a single fast ball.

By OSCAR FRALEY
"This season he used it and beat us twice," Tebbetts said. Feller withdrew from the all-star game last year after being chosen and wasn't named this season, but Birdie said that such antics won't be tolerated from now on.

"This is a real honor," said the 34-year-old redhead who is the starting American League catcher today, the fourth time he has been selected for the inter-league game.

"The players should be proud to be selected and, if they don't show up without a good reason, the other guys are really set to get on them."

A filly, Ruthless, won the first running of the Belmont Stakes in 1867.
