

No Wheat Marketing Quotas Intended for Year 1950-51

W. M. Tate, chairman of the Marion county ACA committee, has been notified that Marion county's allotment is 13,530 acres. The wheat acreage allotment for Oregon is 944,891 acres which has been apportioned among the counties.

Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan has announced that no wheat marketing quotas will be proclaimed for the 1950-51 marketing year. At the same time the secretary announced pursuant to the provisions of Section 332 of the agricultural adjustment act of 1938 a national wheat acreage allotment of 68,900,000 acres for the 1950 crop of wheat. In announcing next year's allotment Secretary Brannan said:

"Wheat farmers are now face to face with a natural post-war problem. The great expansion in United States wheat production, induced by the war and the unusual post-war foreign rehabilitation needs, has continued at a time when market outlets are showing signs of contraction. The indicated wheat production in 1949, even as adjusted downward in the latest crop report, would be our third largest, exceeded only in 1947 and 1948. It will be our sixth consecutive wheat crop in excess of one billion bushels against an average domestic consumption of approximately 700 million bushels.

"While exports are expected to continue large, we must expect a downward trend . . . "We have recently been exporting over ten times as much wheat as we did before the war. Even with expected exports several times the pre-war level, we still need such adjustments.

"Acreage allotments are a fair means of doing this, since they assign to each grower his fair share of responsibility for adjusting production to the prospective market. Because of the large wheat acreage for 1950 might well be glutted markets, disastrous price breaks, and an undue burden on the whole price support program. With an acreage allotment program in effect for the 1950 wheat crop, only those growers who cooperate with their allotments will be entitled to price support.

Shriners Will Hold Annual Hill Trek

Independence — The fourth annual St. Mary's trek has been scheduled for August 4 with all benefits being donated to the Shrine hospital, announced J. W. Palmer of Corvallis, who was here Wednesday advertising the affair with William Darling. A 1949 Chevrolet will be awarded as a prize.

Darling and Walter Smith are in charge of ticket sales in Independence. Darling stated that everyone receiving a Mt. States electric bill this month will receive a complete map of the locality giving directions to St. Mary's peak and there will be road signs to give further directions.

Included among the prizes being awarded at the trek are a 1949 Chevrolet, home freezer, washing machine, radio, electric range, and a motor boat and trailer.
