It's Easy to Second Guess Tribe

New York, July 29 (AP)—Cleveland second-guessers are wondering why Lou Boudreau didn't call on Mike Garcia instead of Bob Feller to pitch Wednesday's big game against the Yankees—especially after what happened to Bobby . . . Mike, just a rookie who wasn't expected to do much this season, has taken up a lot of slack in the Indians' pitching staff and has specialized in winning the tough ones . . . starting only seven times, he has pitched two shutouts and two one-run games and that's the kind of hurling the Tribe needs when nobody is hitting . . . Mike has been described as a big, affable kid who likes to play baseball and who "never hurt himself by reading his own stories."

So Long Mike and Skippy Two athletic sons of Harry Stuhldreher, Wisconsin athletic director, wont be around to help keep the wolf away from their dad's door for the next few years . . . Harry, Jr., otherwise known as "Skippy," will enroll at Michigan this September after having attended Kiska prep . . . he'll be a candidate for the football and hockey teams. . . and Mike, a June graduate of Madison West high, has won a scholarship at Yale, where he'll go out for track and swimming.

Odell, Sweet Home Ousted from State Semi-Pro Tourney

Portland, Aug. 1 (AP)—Two more teams tumbled out of the state semi-pro baseball tournament last night. They were the Odell Firemen, ousted, 10-2, by Albany's defending champions, and Sweet Home, eliminated, 3 to 1, by the Portland Red Sox. That left 19 clubs still in the tourney.

Corners, Midgets Meet in C League Crucial Monday

The undefeated Four Corners club and the once-beaten Midget Market team clash in a crucial junior "C" league encounter at 6 o'clock Monday night on Leslie field.

At Olinger, in another 6 o'clocker, the Keizer Truax Oilers vie with the Schreder's Four Star Market outfit. The Oilers have dropped but one game this season. Four tilts are scheduled in the "B" division. Keizer Merchants tangle with Salem Heights at Salem Heights, West Salem Lumber and Mayflower Milk meet at Leslie, and Salem Laundry goes up against Salem Realtors at Olinger, all games scheduled for a 6 o'clock start.

Weight-y Problem is Over for Gus

By FRANK ECK

Summit, N. J. (AP)—Gus Lesnevich will be free of the big worry that has dogged his career when he meets Ezzard Charles for the NBA version of the world heavyweight championship. Weight worries are over for the Cliffside Park Pole. Although Charles, recent winner over Jersey Joe Walcott for Joe Louis' vacated title, will be favored in the first defense of his National Boxing association crown, the Cincinnati Negro may be fighting the Lesnevich of 1947 when the two square off in Yankee Stadium, Wednesday, August 10.

"I weigh 186 pounds now," says Lesnevich, "and will come in around 180 for the Charles fight. I fight best at that weight. Making 175 pounds was too much." An example of how much energy Lesnevich drained out of his system by making weight is best exemplified by the words of his chubby manager, Joe Vella. "The day he lost to Freddie Mills in London Gus said he weighed 175 pounds but he hid the scales on us," says Vella. "When I finally got to weigh him he was 176 1/2. He had to walk around Hyde Park for an hour and it was London's hottest day in 45 years. Ask Freddie Fierro, his trainer."

To Hold Diamond School at Bevo Stadium for Kids

Portland, Ore., Aug. 1 (AP)—The third annual baseball school will be held August 15th and 16th at Portland's Beaver stadium, Portland Manager Bill Mulligan said today. The school will be limited to boys 14 years of age and older. Out-of-town boys will be housed at Portland university in the 50 places open in the dormitory.

and is a few inches taller. But outside of that I think it's a good match."

So does the International Boxing club. It will be its first attraction in the big city. Nobody connected with the fight appears worried over Cincinnati Promoter Sam Becker's threatened court action. Becker lost $40,000 on the Maxim-Lesnevich bout and both agreed to a return fight in Cincinnati on September 19.

"We had to sign to get our dough from Becker," says Vella. The coming bout should clear up the situation one way or another. If Lesnevich wins he could go back to Cincinnati for a non-title bout. If he loses to Charles it is doubtful that Promoter Becker would care to take another gamble.

For both the Mills and Maxim bouts, Lesnevich weighed in officially at 174 1/2. For his last fight with Mauriello he scaled 180 1/2 because his title was not at stake. Lesnevich stopped Mauriello in seven rounds in the Garden.

Lesnevich oozes confidence as he goes through his paces at Ehsan's training camp, a spot once known as Madame Bays, where such fighters as Max Schmeling, Primo Carnera, Mickey Walker and Tony Galento prepared for title bouts. "I've seen Charles fight three times," says Gus. "I don't think he punches too hard but he punches fast. I hit harder. If opportunity knocks I'll go after it. At least you can say it'll be a good fight because we both like to fight. I don't believe in hitting and running. I like to force the fighting. Charles is on that style, too. He'll have a few pounds on me
