Salem Model Plane Winner

Open class championship of the model airplane meet spon-sored by the Multnomah Doo dlebugs at the Woodburn air-port Sunday was won by Elmer Roth, director of the Salem Model club, who took the long-est flight of the day, first in class "B" competition, fourth in class "C" and seventh in class

Other Salem winners were in the junior division and included Jerry Bowman, first in class "C" and third in class "A"; Kenneth Sterns, second in class "C" and third in class "R" and Philip Keefer, fourth in class "B."

Several model planes are reported "missing in action" and are believed in the general area between Woodburn and Salem. One was last sighted near Brooks one was last signed near Broose but was lost to sight because of darkness. Anyone finding the planes, which carry identifica-tion marks, is asked to ne'ify Roth at 2080 Market.

The 11th annual competition sponsored by the Salem Model club will be held August 14 with all flights from a field three miles south of Turner. Roth estimates that there will be more than 100 entries for the event

Spectre of Death Clouds Reunion After 43 Years

Detroit, Aug. 1 (0.2)—The spectre of death prevented a son Saturday from talking with his father whom he found after Doctors feared the excitement of a reunion would snuff the life of William Geddes, critically ill in a San Francisco hospital.

Harold Geddes, a Detroit attorney, and his brother, George, had given up hope of finding their father when police called and said they had a letter from their father when police called convinced he was dead, and said they had a letter from their father.

The elder Geddes, who disappeared from his home in Rochester, N. Y., 43 years ago, had seen Harold Geddes' name in a telephone book. He asked police to check if the attorney was his son.

But belephone Geddes learned his father had remarried and ord crowds at all events and the darfair a financial success.

Other parade winners were discovered as a waterfront guard. Harold said his brother still was "pretty sore" about his father deserting the family.

Harold said he plans a reunion with his father if he recovers.

"There are so many things I

There are so many things I are to learn," he said.

Chief question in his mind is matches.

Other parade winners were Mrs. Mike Southard, Albany, best individual rider on best horse with Mrs. Veda Carson, Silverton, second and Mrs. Margaret Keigil, Lyons, third.

Harold called the San Francisco address given in the letter. He learned that his father had been taken to a hospital following his second heart attack in two months.

The hospital said he could not talk with his father. The extitement might be too much.

Harold said to make a search. Maybe he had a reason for leaving."

But death may keep him from learning the secret of his father's disappearance.

It will be secret of his father had been taken to a hospital following his second heart attack in two months.
