Board Accepts New Steam Line

The state board of control Thursday accepted the steam line, completed between the Fairview home and Hillcrest school by W. R. Ransom & Sons. Fifteen per cent of the total contract was withheld for 30 days pending completion of some minor items.

The board authorized payment of $34,084.94 to Malarkey & Moore for work performed during June on the school building, food service building and dormitory at Hillcrest school.

On recommendation of Whitehouse, Church, Newberry & Roehr, architects, the board approved payment of $85,588.74 to Sound Construction and Engineering company for work performed on the new state office building during July.

Also approved was payment of $8,654.71 due Erwin E. Batterman for work on additions to the laundry building at the state hospital.

Bernard Sutcliffe Passes in Portland

Portland, Aug. 5 (P) — Dr. Bernard B. Sutcliffe, 76, chairman of the board of Multnomah School of the Bible and former pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Tacoma, died here Thursday.

He was pastor of the Tacoma church in 1935-37, and came here as president of the newly opened Multnomah School of the Bible in 1937. Poor health forced him to give up the presidency three years ago.

Born in Nova Scotia, he first came to Portland in 1921 to organize Bible classes.

Boeing Workers May Be Reduced

Seattle, Aug. 5 (P) — A reduction in the working force at the Boeing Airplane company plant here today loomed as a possibility, President William M. Allen announced.

Allen said a decline in employment may result since the government cancelled the B-54 bomber project. The B-54 program was to have been the backbone of 1950 production here, Allen said.

In a financial statement accompanying his announcement, Allen reported a net profit of $662,349 for the Boeing company during the first six months of 1949.

Government May Enter Fume Case

Portland, Aug. 5 (P) — The government may enter the suit in which Columbia river farmers seek damages to cover losses they say they suffered from aluminum plant fumes.

Attorneys for the farmers and the defendant, Reynolds Metals Co., agreed yesterday to let the government enter as an interested party.

Their agreement was forwarded to District Judge James Alger Fee for his possible approval.

The suit may go to trial in November.

Numerous farmers maintain they suffered damage from Reynolds plants at Longview, Wash., and Troutdale, Ore. They seek more than $1,500,000.

Machines for making nails were produced in America at the close of the 18th century.
