

Webfoot Pioneered Nite Racing Proves Top Show

San Mateo, Calif., (AP)—Night horse racing as pioneered in Oregon and approved yesterday in Illinois, may become the biggest thing in professional sports, General Manager Bill Kyne of Bay Meadows said today.

"For the smaller tracks, night racing will be the only savior when employment slacks off," said Kyne.

"I don't expect night racing ever to come to the major tracks in New York and California, where there is plenty of business for the daytime operators, but it certainly will be a boon for the fellows at the small tracks having a tough time of it."

Kyne, who was one of the men who promoted the legalization of pari-mutuel betting at California tracks, pushed through the bill to give Oregon night racing — the first horse racing track in the country to run night-time. Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois yesterday signed a law that.

"We've had night racing established in Oregon now for four years," says Kyne, "and it is a going business. We are breaking even — something we certainly couldn't do if we had to operate during daylight."

"If the racing men want night operations in the state of Washington and go after it, I'm certain they could swing a deal up there, too."

Giant Ball Camp Expected to Draw Large Turnouts

Dallas — A good turnout of young baseball talent with hopes of cracking the major leagues is anticipated in Dallas on Saturday and Sunday when the New York Giants conduct their tryout camp here.

Mickey Shuler, western scout for the National League club, will be present to conduct the tryouts personally, as he puts it "in big league style." He will stay in a Salem hotel, arriving Friday evening.

All local preparations have been made for the session, according to Hughie Day of Dallas, who is also a scout for the Giants. Camp sessions will begin at 10 a. m. each day, and each player will have ample opportunity to "show his stuff." Concluding feature of the camp will be a baseball game between participants in the camp and the Dallas-Valsetz semi-pro outfit or another local club.

Any high school graduate, eligible to sign a professional contract, who is interested in the tryouts is invited to attend. No advance arrangements are necessary.

He need only report to Day in Dallas or at the high school field at 10 a. m. Saturday. This is the first such tryout camp to be held in Dallas and one of two to be held by the Giants in Oregon this year. The other was at Hillsboro at an earlier date.

CBI Employees In New Homes

Mill City — Seven of the new Consolidated Builders Incorporated homes located in the former city park here have been completed and are now occupied by some of the key personnel of the company. Workmen on the job state that probably many more will be ready for occupation this week.

Vincent Palmer, head engineer for C.B.I. stationed in the local engineer's office, stated that all of the 22 houses would be occupied by September 1.

Paved roads in front of the homes were completed several weeks ago. Exterior of the homes is entirely different in build, finish and color. Interiors of many carry the same color scheme through all of the rooms, using the same pastel shade on woodwork and walls.

Special note was of the extra ordinary paint jobs done on the woodwork of the homes. Occupants were given the privilege of choosing their own color schemes. The houses, which are valued at $15,000 or more, are well constructed and finishing jobs have been neatly done. Fireplaces are in all of the houses and oil furnaces make up the heating units. Electric dishwashers have been installed in the kitchen.
