Armed Forces to Display at Fair

Unification of the armed forces will become a reality in Salem this week at the Oregon State Fair, when all branches of the armed forces will participate in an exhibit being arranged by the Salem Military Manpower committee.

The exhibit, to be placed in the open near the stadium, under present plans will be participated in by the Army, Air Force, Navy, Marines and Coast Guard. Final plans for the armed forces part in the State Fair program will be made at a meeting of the Military Manpower committee to be held at the Army and Air Force recruiting office in the Post Office building Wednesday night.

Other contributions were from Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Learfield, Flowers Acres farm, Gordon Lendland, Elmer Anderson Sr., Henry Martin, N. E. Manock, Ellery Furniture, Ed Krueger, Alta Knowles, E. E. Holden, Elmer Zeek, Vista Mark, Mr. and Mrs. John Haston, Harlan Rupp and Verna Martin.

SOME TASTED LIKE IT 'K' Ration Idea for GIs Found to Be 2000 Years Old

Berkeley, Calif. (AP)—Those ex-GIs who like to get together and gripe about the "K" ration might be glad to hear that more than 2,000 years ago Greek soldiers ate their own version of a "K," a mere pill for use in cities under siege.

This primitive "K" ration is mentioned in the works of Philon of Byzantium, a celebrated army engineer about 150 B.C., and was described by Dr. Pan S. Codellas, of the University of California medical school, at a lecture.

The pill was made up of thin-sliced pieces of squill, a bulb which was used as a cardiac stimulant and expectorant; sesame; and one-fifteenth opium poppy. After those ingredients had been pounded into a mortar, the mixture was kneaded with honey, then divided into pieces the size of olives.

"If one of these morsels is consumed during the second hour (about 8 a.m.) and another around the 10th hour (4 p.m.), serious suffering will result from want of food," wrote Philon.

Codellas commented that the Greek "K" ration commands respect from a nutritional and utilitarian point of view. The honey provided carbohydrate; protein was derived from sesame; the scilla, or squill, a bulb of medicinal use in ages past before digitalis, was a general and heart stimulant, and opium deadened the hunger pains of the stomach.

Philon also advocated the planting of "victory gardens" in peacetime against the day cities might be besieged. Such victory gardens would be composed of fig and palm trees if the climate were suitable, and squash, lettuce, cabbage and other vegetables.

Hayworth Alive But Mystery Unexplained

Mill City, Aug. 15 (AP)—Charles H. Hayworth, Eugene man believed drowned in a fishing accident, was very much alive today. But what happened to him was still a mystery.

Hayworth, who had gone fishing on the North Santiam river, was feared drowned Friday when another fisherman hooked Hayworth's rod out of the river. Hayworth's car, with an uneaten lunch inside, still stood on the bank.

But late Saturday night Hayworth was found, walking down the highway north of here, by his brother-in-law.

Hayworth was cut and bruised about the head, and was unable to explain just what had occurred.

This year's acreage shows a large increase.

Hoover Wins Cheers in N. Y.

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover drew applause and cheers from a crowd at Grand Central terminal when he arrived today from Chicago on the Twentieth Century limited.

Hoover, now 75, went directly to his suite at the Waldorf-Astoria. He said there was "much ado about nothing" over the gall bladder disturbance he suffered on the train from California.

The ex-president whiled away the hours on the trip playing gin rummy with his secretary, Miss Bernice Miller.

Hoover plans to spend a good part of the next year in New York, helping to put into effect the recommendations of his committee on reorganizing the executive branch of the government.

Independence Nears Bean Harvest Peak

Independence—The bean industry in the Independence area is approaching its peak of harvest picking, states Dean Walker.

This is the first year that beans have claimed a place as a major industry around Independence. E. S. Park and McGowan Bros. have produced beans for several years, but around 125 additional acres have been planted this year and are now being harvested.

Pickers are receiving 2 1/2 cents per pound and are expected to earn good wages for the next week during the heavy harvest time.

Among the newer Independence growers who are helping to make this growing industry are the Werline ranch, S. J. Hoover and Son, Dean Walker and Son, and Byron Ruddell.

Restrictions Placed On Housing Project

Grand Ronde—A shakeup in the population of Grand Ronde is taking place at this time and more will follow later.

The Spirit Mountain housing project is being dismantled. At this time 18 cabins of two rows have already been vacated. Some people are moving to the cabins in the lower end others finding dwellings elsewhere. All of these units would be filled if the restrictions were lifted.
