

To Give U.S. Another Try—Daniel McCarthy, former GI whose attempt to become a German citizen landed him in jail, embraces his mother at Fort Hancock, N. J., following his release from custody. McCarthy was sentenced to eight months in jail last June for illegally entering Germany. His mother, Mrs. Catherine McCarthy, says she hopes he finds a good job and forgets his plans for wanting to return to Germany. (AP Wirephoto.)

Four Corners Homes Greet More Out of State Guests

Four Corners, Aug. 15—Many out-of-state visitors continue to enjoy Oregon's summer climate. The Fred Buckners have had as their house guests for a week Mrs. Buckner's son and granddaughter, Captain L. G. Willig of Oakland, Calif. Leaving Monday on the Daylight train for Oakland, Captain Willig will stop briefly in Oakland before going on to Fort Eustis, Va., where he will take an advanced course in Army Transportation. At the conclusion of this training he will be transferred with a probability of overseas service.

Auto Hits Pole; Power Disrupted

Power service in the Silverton area was disrupted for several hours Sunday morning after an automobile Silverton police state was driven by Henry Volk, 1616 N. Fifth street, Salem, struck a power pole on the Salem-Silverton highway just outside the city limits.

The impact caused several fuses to burn out throughout the area extending into Silver Creek falls and though the power went off at 2:45 o'clock in the morning it was restored in Silverton by 7 o'clock and later in the day throughout the affected district.

PGE employees repairing the damage state that two high-voltage currents were mixed by the impact which caused the general interruption of power.

Woodburn Eligible Basic School Cash

Woodburn — Notice has been received by school officials here that the Woodburn public schools have been rated as "conditionally standard" for the school year 1949-1950.

The notice came from Rex Putnam, state superintendent of public instruction, within a week after the district voted 431 to 300 an authorization of $375,000 in bonds to finance solution of the local school housing problem.

This rating will make the district again eligible to receive the approximately $40,000 in basic school support money which was lost last spring when the state department declared the local schools non-standard.

Sets Flight Record

Lebanon, Ore., Aug. 15—Staying aloft an hour and eight minutes Deane Kelly, student glider pilot, set a new local record at the Lebanon airport Sunday on his 75th flight aloft. He was using a Schweizer sail-plane which has a wingspread of 52 feet. He reached an altitude of 3200 feet during his record soar. The flight was three minutes longer than his previous best.

Pomona Grange Has Silverton Picnic

Silverton—Seven Granges of Marion county were represented at the family picnic of Pomona, Sunday at the Silverton city park with Mrs. Frank M. Porter, Pomona lecturer arranging the program and W. M. Tate of Stayton, Pomona master, and Mrs. Alvin Hartley of Silverton Hills, secretary, official hosts to the group. A basket dinner was served at 1:30 o'clock.

During the program and social hour Stayton Grange was awarded honors for having the most members present, the gifts of furnishings for their home-garage kitchen. The "Chin-up" club member, Clarence Overholtz, received a special gift of a ball point pen prize. The award for the oldest woman member present went to Mrs. Lambert of Stayton, to the oldest man, George Scott of Union Hill. Four

Amateur Astronomers of West to Meet in Los Angeles

By J. HUGH PRUETT
 Astronomer, Extension Division, Oregon Higher Education System
 Giant telescopes, elaborate spectroscopes and Schmidt cameras, although exceedingly useful instruments, are not absolutely essential to the trade of "astronomers," especially the amateur variety.

Many have remarked to me: "I'd dearly love to study the stars, but one has to know so much to get anything out of it." In answer I can quote the effective slogan of the astronomical club of Yakima, Wash.: "Anyone who can see can be an amateur astronomer."

The non-professional astronomers of all the western states are planning a big convention at Los Angeles starting August 22, 1949, and continuing for three days. There have been smaller regional meetings in the west, such as the northwestern section of the Astronomical league which meets at Portland, but this all-western get-together for the students of the starry skies is the first of its kind.

The plan was started by Prof. G. Bruce Blair of the University of Nevada and others, but it was later turned over to the large and efficient organization, the Los Angeles Astronomical society, which is promoting the undertaking with vigor.

Most of the sessions for papers will be on the campus of the University of Southern California in Los Angeles. Others will be held at the Griffith observatory and on Mt. Wilson at the site of the 100-inch telescope. The convention banquet is scheduled at "one of the finest restaurants on Wilshire boulevard" on the evening of Aug. 23. The next evening there will be a dinner at the Mt. Wilson hotel.

According to the latest bulletin, at least 30 papers will be presented. "These include major papers by Prof. Walter H. Haas
