

Telephone Bride of Texas Farmer on 'Honeymoon'

Berlin, Aug. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Otto Arndt, 46, telephone bride of a Texas farmer, began a "lonely honeymoon" Saturday. Her husband of a day was still on his farm near Brenham, Tex., but Mrs. Arndt's maid reported the bride seemed "very happy."

The maid told callers at the house that Mrs. Arndt would be on her honeymoon all that afternoon.

The former Frau Margaret Zwirner became the wife of Otto Arndt, 61, in a marriage ceremony performed over the long-distance telephone with Pastor Theodore Strength, in Brenham, officiating.

Mrs. Arndt barely remembers her new husband.

They met several years before the war when he came to Germany as a tourist. His first wife had been a girlhood friend, and they carried on a desultory correspondence until the outbreak of World War II.

After the war, Frau Zwirner, by then a widow, wrote to Arndt and learned he had become a widower. Romance blossomed and he asked her to come to Texas to be his wife.

Frau Zwirner accepted, but was told by the U. S. consul she would have a long wait for a visa. As a native of East Prussia, now part of Poland, she came under the Polish quota and might have to wait up to three years.

Arndt arranged for the telephone marriage in the hope that she could enter the United States as a non-quota immigrant wife of an American. The consul told her, however, that telephone marriages were not recognized in the United States.

"But this is Texas," she protested. "Oh, Texas," the consul said. "That may be different."

Legal or not, the ceremony was performed.

Mrs. Arndt is waiting for her husband to send the marriage certificate. She will present it to the consul and see what happens.

Mrs. Arndt, in German tradition, wore a sprig of mistletoe in her hair during the marriage call.

After it was over, Arndt told his bride:

"My sweet, beloved woman, I love you forever."

"I love you forever also, Otto," replied his bride, "and I hope I can come to you soon."

Arndt rang off. But before his bride hung up, she received the best wishes of long-distance telephone operators in a dozen cities between Berlin and Brenham.

New Zealand produced 82,000 tons of butter in six months of last year.

Newport Road Job Finished

Two new sections of the coast highway north of Newport and in Agate Beach are now completed with the exception of some maintenance on oil surfacing and landscaping of the islands in the Agate Beach section.

The projects included widening of the new road stretching north from Newport and a mile and a quarter in Agate Beach at an approximate cost of $325,000. To the Newport city limits the road has been made a four-lane highway and in Agate Beach the four-lane road is a divided highway with elaborate designs for the turnoffs to Agate Beach and the lighthouse.

The new sections are connected by a short and winding stretch of the old highway through the Monterey section but it is expected that will be replaced shortly.

Woody Herman and Orchestra Tonight

Tonight will prove more than one thing when Woody Herman appears for a one-night stand at the Glenwood ballroom in Salem. In the event the local dance fans turn out in full force it will mean Salem wants the top bands such as the other Oregon cities have been getting, and it also means the cry of no business in Salem in the entertainment line is a thing of the past.

Glen Woody, local business man, is going to keep a watchful eye and in event of a success with Woody Herman and his orchestra, Woody will line up a full fall schedule of name entertainment.

Woody Herman and his 21 musicians and entertainers will appear on the Glenwood ballroom bandstand from 9 to 1. The admission prices will be scaled to hit a new low for name talent.
