

Polk County Grain Storage Facilities Prove Inadequate

Dallas, Aug. 19 — Warehouse storage capacity has increased in Polk county continuously over the past several years, but every indication is that it is far insufficient to handle this year's bumper crop of grains and seeds.

As the harvest hit full swing this week, perhaps a half-month earlier than last year, two of the major warehouses were filled to the brim, and two others were probably nearing that stage.

The Monmouth warehouse was reported to be overflowing with grain. In Dallas, the Farmers Cooperative Warehouse, in the words of M. M. Gilles, manager, was "plugged" Tuesday. The large new elevator was full of bulk grain and seeds and sacks were piled in every available space at the old warehouse.

At Derry, Burlington-Meeker was receiving grain, and a large new addition was being used though not completed yet. Elliott Feed and Seed at Perrydale with its big new elevator built last year was reported to be taking grain Monday, but it, too, was probably nearing the maximum.

The wheat crop is up this year, partly due to the fact that some growers, disappointed with barley last year, put their acreage into wheat. Barley on the other hand is estimated by Gilles to be down in acreage about 40%. Those farmers that did grow barley this year, however, are having much better luck than last year, largely because the drier summer has kept the crop free from the trouble of too much moisture.

Harvest of peas and vetch is over. Stands were sparse because of the late spring and hard winter. However, this natural thinning seemed to bring better production per plant and the seeds were larger than usual. Grain prices are down but seed prices are good, Gilles states. Growers who planted rye-grass are enjoying the season for the crop did better than usual and the price is good.

A "bottleneck" that is causing trouble here is the inability of the cooperative to obtain railroad cars to ship grain out. The manager states that he has been making every effort to obtain cars for shipment, but the shortage of cars continues, and the local facilities remain full.

With continued good weather it is expected that two more weeks will see the end of the grain and seed harvest.

Berries Ripe Again

Unionvale — Everbearing strawberries are ripening again and furnishing large fruit for home consumption. After a few weeks without strawberries, the ever popular variety is greatly prized, growers in this and the Grand Island district report.

Tells of Payment—Milton R. Pollard, a Milwaukee insurance man, tells a senate investigating subcommittee in Washington, that he paid John Maragon $1,000 for trying to get a sugar rationing suspension order lifted in 1946. This led to a demand by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R., Wis.), that Maragon, a key figure in the "five percent" inquiry, be indicted for perjury. (AP Wirephoto)
