Miss Lukins Wed at Noon Service

St. Paul's Episcopal church was the scene today for one of the late summer's prominent weddings in the capital, Miss Shirley Gail Lukins and Robert Wade Steeves exchanging their marriage vows at a 12 o'clock noon ceremony, the Rev. George H. Swift officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Walter Seaborn Lukins and the late Mrs. Lukins, and Mr. Steeves is the son of Mrs. A. G. Rodgers of Shady Cove, Ore., and the late Dr. Laban Steeves.

Early fall blooms, featuring chrysanthemums and gladioluses, decorated the church for the service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding dress of white satin. It was designed with low rounded pleated collar and short cuffed sleeves, the bodice pointed in front and back, the skirt full with a bustle in back. The fingertip veil of illusion was arranged from a twist of satin and illusion and orange blossoms were at either side. For her flowers the bride carried a tulle flower basket filled with white and yellow bouvardia and stephanotis.

Wear Gold and Green

Miss Barbara Blaesing of Portland was the honor attendant, Miss Patricia Stone of Portland and Miss Phyllis Schnell of Salem, the bridesmaids. All three wore gowns identical in style, the honor attendant's being gold satin, the two bridesmaids' of moss green satin.

The dresses were cut with square neckline and rolled collars, small covered buttons to the waist, wide pleated waist bands and full gathered skirts. Their flowers were early fall blooms fashioned in the shapes of flower baskets with handles. Each of the attendants wore a headress of braided satin matching the color of her dress.

Newberry Close was best man. Seating the guests were James R. Phillips, Evan Boise, Ernest Miller and Richard Schlicker.

Mrs. Rodgers, mother of the bridegroom, was here for the wedding and she was attired in a light gray dress fashioned with long sleeves, a draped skirt and small bustle in back. She wore a corsage of orchids.

The reception was at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith, Orchard Lane. The early fall flowers decorated the table and home for the reception.

To Live in Eugene

Mrs. Philip H. Schnell cut the cake. Mrs. Conrad Paulson poured. Greeting the guests were Mrs. Fred Smith and Mrs. Frank Lukins, sister-in-law of the bride. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Donald Sheeler, Mrs. Donald Sommer of Salem, Miss Kay Becker, Miss Leslie Palfrey of Portland, Mrs. James Kern of Albany, Miss Jane Hull of Newport, Miss Jean Claire Swift, Miss Jean Fidler, Miss Janet Rilea of Salem. At the punch bowl were Richard Eckley and Herbert Ray.

The couple left on a wedding trip to the Oregon and Washington beaches and into Canada, the bride wearing a dark green plaid suit with plain green collar and cuffs, green and black accessories, and green hat with black feathers.

The couple will be at home in Eugene after September 15. Mr. Steeves will complete his work at the University of Oregon. The bride was graduated in June from the university where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Mr. Steeves is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Miss DeVona Bjelland, Woodburn, who is to be married Saturday, August 27, to Kenneth Satrom of Salem, was honored at a surprise shower and party for which Miss Rosemary Grenz was hostess this past week. The shower was a miscellaneous one. Following an informal evening a late supper was served. A group of 37 was bidden to the party.

A dessert party for all members of the bridal party for the wedding of Miss Barbara Halvarson and Stanley Girod will be given next Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Halvarson, the event to follow the rehearsal which is to be at 2 o'clock. Miss Halvarson and Mr. Girod are to be married Sunday evening, August 28, in the First Methodist church.

Salem Zonta club is meeting for dessert next Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. R. W. Land with Mrs. Robert McEwan, Dr. Lucille Forner and Miss Mary Larson as co-hostesses. Preceding the meeting the board members will gather for dinner at the Marion hotel at 6 o'clock.

The regular day for the Salem Women's Golf association will be held Wednesday, play starting at 9 a. m.

Miss Shellenberger Is Bride

A late summer wedding of interest to many friends took place in the First Congregational church this afternoon when Miss Miriam Jeanine Shellenberger, daughter of Mrs. A. G. Matherly, was married to Theodore R. Flook, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Flook of Portland. In a setting of flowers and candlelight, the vows were read at 4 o'clock, the Rev. Louis White officiating. Soloist for the service was Verne Esch and Jean Hobson Rich played the organ.

All-white flowers, gladioluses and asters, together with tapers in candelabra decorated the church. Down the processional aisle a white satin rope was looped along the pews, and the white blooms and bows were arranged at every other pew.

Mrs. Courtney Jones and Miss Barbara Sundet, wearing light blue, lighted the tapers.

In Satin Gown

The bride wore a handsome wedding gown of white satin fashioned with a tucked neckline, a bustle in back and a long train. The yoke was of Viennese lace frosting over the satin and came to a point at the waistline. The cuffs of the long sleeves were of the same lace. The fingertip veil cascaded from a crown of the Viennese lace. For her flowers the bride carried a white satin fan covered with stephanotis and a white orchid. Wendell Kenworthy, a cousin, gave the bride in marriage.

Mrs. James R. Phillips as matron of honor wore a pale aqua taffeta gown fashioned with a berth neckline and a full bustle in back on the skirt. She carried a fan covered with white gladioluses tied with satin ribbon matching her gown.

Miss Shirley Flook, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Joanne Fitzmaurice were the bridesmaids. Their gowns were in pale lavender made exactly like that of the honor attendant and the fans they carried also were covered with white gladioluses and tied with ribbons matching their dresses. All three attendants wore short white embroidered mitts, and each wore a crownless picture hat of horsehair braid and streamers in back matching her gown.

Richard Randall, Portland, a cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushering were Roger Hopkins, George Gornick, Fred Schmaling, all of Portland.

Reception at Church
For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Matherly wore a gold crepe gown and corsage of bronze roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue crepe gown with corsage of pink roses.

The fireplace room of the church was the scene for the reception following the service. Serving the cake were Mrs. George Neuner and Mrs. J. P. Schimberg. Pouring were Mrs. Charles Briggs and Mrs. V. L. Torrey. Assisting at the reception were Miss Suzanne Small, Mrs. William Pettit, Mrs. Edward Salstrom. The fan theme in all-white was used in decorating at the reception.

For going away the bride wore a two-toned brown suit with brown accessories and corsage of orchids.

Following a trip to San Francisco and vicinity, Mr. and Mrs. Flook will be at home at 137 South Winter, after September 1.
