

Pensioner Told To Give Up Car

Portland, Aug. 25 (AP)—The state public welfare commission has upheld a Multnomah county ban on car ownership for an aged pensioner.

The decision requires Logan Fields, 78, to either give up his car or lose old age assistance.

Commission members made the ruling yesterday after hearing appeals that favored allowing pensioners to own cheap cars. The old age recipients are now permitted to do so only if the cars are essential.

Fields, a one-armed former violin maker, owns a 1936 model car. The commission was told by Floyd K. Dover that the car was needed so Fields could get to grocery stores. Dover represents a recently organized old age grievance committee.

Joseph E. Dunne, pension group leader, said he would undertake a court test of the decision. He said he would seek an injunction to halt the Multnomah commission from stopping funds to two other pensioners who own cars.

State Commission Chairman Jack Luhn defended the policy. He said "sentiment throughout the state is that our regulation is very, very liberal. If any county welfare commission wishes anyone to have a car they can do so under our regulations."

Complaints of both the Hood River and Multnomah commissions over reductions of aid to dependent children to provide more funds for aged pensioners were also heard. Chairman Luhn and Administrator Loeh Howard were instructed to take up the matter with the state emergency board.

'Flying Saucer' Reported

Portland, Aug. 25 (AP)—A woman excitedly informed police today that she had found a flying saucer. Patrolmen investigated and reported back that the "flying saucer" was a phonograph record of the home-recording variety.

Records Posted At Round-up

Pendleton, Aug. 25 (AP)—A bulldogging record and a near-record calf roping time were already posted for the 39th annual Pendleton Round-up today as cowpokes went into second day competition.

Oral Zumwalt, Wolf Creek, Mont., dropped a steer in 8.4 seconds yesterday for the new record. The time was four-tenths of a second better than the previous mark set in 1946.

The fast calf roping time of 13.1 seconds by Cotton Lee, Clovis, N.M., was within one-tenth of a second of the record set in 1941.

Gene Rambo, Shandon, Calif., a leader for his third International Rodeo association title, had troubles in the first day's events. He was thrown in the bareback ride, failed to halt his steer in the bulldogging and pulled leather in the saddle bronc ride. He placed, however, in steer roping. Rambo won the Jackson trophy here in 1944 and his early misses in the points put him behind for a repeat in this arena.

Frank Gamble, Toppenish, Wash., used his own string of ponies to win the pony express, cowboy pony and relay races. A first day crowd of 6500 cheered the veteran rodeo entrants.

Spokane Killer Escapes Again

Walla Walla, Aug. 25 (AP)—For the second time within a year, a Spokane county slayer was being hunted down today after escaping from the state penitentiary.

The prisoner, George Madison, escaped from the institution with three companions at dusk last night. All but Madison were retaken shortly.

Madison, described by Warden John Cranor as "dangerous and vicious," was believed to have taken a truck from the state game farm across the highway from the prison.

The hunted slayer escaped previously in November, 1948, while assigned to the prison photo laboratory but was retaken in Fort Wayne, Ind. The quartet slipped to freedom last night through a 35-foot tunnel which started between a cell block and the prison chapel and came up outside the wall. Timing was perfect. Their flight was covered by dusk and tower guards were busy with other inmates in the recreation yard.
