Polk Prune Growers 'Strike' With Heavy Crop, Low Prices

Dallas, Aug. 25—Unless canneries and packers pay growers $25 per green ton for prunes delivered, Polk county orchards will not be picked this year, members of the County Growers association decided at a meeting this week.

The growers, with a relatively heavy crop, took the step in the face of the prevailing low price. Even at $25 per ton they believe that they will do no better than break even. When costs are deducted, about $8 per ton is left for the green fruit on the trees.

A total of 140 persons were present at the meeting, representing 120 different Polk county orchards. They figured that their total yield would be an estimated 12,000 tons or about 70 percent of the total Polk county crop this year. It was the best turnout to such a meeting in local history.

The growers, although faced with the low price, decided on a picking price of 15 cents per bushel box which they considered good enough to protect local labor. No action was taken on shakers or dryer help.

Picking is not due to start until September 1 with some as late as Labor day, although one grower is picking now. The board of directors was directed to contact canneries and packers of their price proposal.

All officers and directors were re-elected for another year, including Frank Neufeld, president; John DeJong, vice president; Carl Gerlinger, Jr., secretary-treasurer; and Ross Simpson, Irvin Simmons, Ross Clark and Forrest Martin, directors.
