

'Cheesecake' Ruled Out By Serious Marsha Hunt

Hollywood (AP)—Marsha Hunt was at 17 the youngest character actress in pictures, and now, eight years later, she's still the prettiest.

She's played woman of 60, flippant comedienne, old maids with specs, school teachers, dumb-style Southern girls, unmarried mothers and all.

"And I loved every minute of it," she said. "That's what I wanted to do. I'd never, never be an ingenue."

No such creature exists as the ingenue movie starlets usually play, says Miss Hunt. They are figments of the Hollywood imagination.

"All those words, words, words they say," she sighed "Did you ever hear anybody really talk like that? Mush."

Miss Hunt currently is playing a straight-talking, sensible policewoman in Columbia's "Woman From Headquarters."

She got over this ingenue business her first few days in pictures. She went straight to the publicity department and announced she'd be glad to fight a grizzly bear or float over the city in a balloon. But no, absolutely no, leg art.

"I had read enough movie magazines to know that girls who pose for cheesecake are referred to as 'cuties' or 'starlets,'" she said. "Well, I thought I could act and I didn't want to be a 'starlet.' I wanted to be an actress."

She did act once in a bathing suit. It was in picture called "College Holiday." She looked pretty good, although leggy.

"I had to show my legs while I was acting again on television," she recalled. "I was doing a production of "Twelfth Night. Shakespeare knew enough to put girls in tights once in awhile."

The character role she liked least was in "Pride and Prejudice" singing "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton," off key.

"I happen to have perfect pitch," she said. "It was very hard."

Man Admits Mauling Vet

Montesano, Wash., Aug. 25 (AP)—"I guess on several occasions I dragged him by the hair and slapped his face, but I was just trying to cure him."

With those words, Sheriff Mike Kilgore said, 52-year-old Frank Chase confessed orally to mauling his 29-year-old amputee veteran stepson, Henry Chum.

The confession was given yesterday before a group of newspapermen.

Kilgore said Chase admitted beating Chum because the latter "had lost his self respect."

Chase is held in the Grays Harbor county jail on assault charges. A suit in Chum's behalf was filed in Superior Judge J. M. Phillips' court by Lester Stritmatter, a Hoquiam attorney.

The complaint charged that Chase, by "intimidation, threats, force and fraud," took $2768.08 in government disability payments from Chum, and alleged that the World War II veteran was forced to sign a certificate of title for the amputee's automobile given him by the government and that Chase sold the machine.

The slightly built ex-GI, who lost his left leg above the knee in a Japanese bombing on New Guinea, told Kilgore yesterday he had been forced to crawl

Mayor Frowns on Gal's Shorts But His Deputy's Different

San Francisco (U.P.)—Last year Mayor Elmer E. Robinson refused to allow "Miss Harbor Day," a 19-year-old blonde model clad in short blue shorts and a T-shirt, into his office until she changed into a more decorous outfit.

This year Mayor Robinson was out of town and acting Mayor Daniel J. Gallagher, a bachelor, looked forward with considerable anticipation to the annual visit of "Miss Harbor Day."

He was disappointed when she turned up in a very proper black suit. It seemed Janet Jackson, also 19 and blonde, had been warned about proper dress in a mayor's office.

"What, no scanties?" asked Gallagher. After a brief retirement Miss Jackson came back in very short white shorts and a blue T-shirt. The mayor beamed.

Commie Plea for Mistrial Denied

New York, Aug. 25 (AP)—Federal Judge Harold R. Medina today denied a motion by defense counsel for a mistrial in the communist conspiracy trial.

Judge Medina also denied the motion that Russell Janney, a juror, be disqualified and that an inquiry be made as to his possible "influence" on other jurors.

Defense attorneys yesterday asked for a mistrial on the ground that Janney—author of about the house on hands and knees for 15 hours last Christmas day.

the best-selling novel "Miracle of the Bells"—had shown bias in private conversations with an actress and singer, Miss Carol B. Nathanson.

The 11 communist leaders are charged with conspiracy to advocate violent overthrow of the government.
