Public Aware Of Many Idle

Albany, Aug. 26—Unemployment is coming to public attention in this country now but this does not mean that the United States is economically on the downgrade or that another depression is imminent, Earl O. Shreve, past president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, told 100 members and guests of the Albany chamber at luncheon at the Hub restaurant.

The apparent increase in unemployment, said Shreve, is due rather to industry's failure to absorb new employables than to a decline of jobs. In fact, he pointed out, there are now employed 59,000,000 persons, far more than were employed prior to the war, but the annual increase of employables is far greater than can be absorbed, which means that many new jobs must be created if unemployment is to be wiped out.

Industry's inability to keep pace with job demands, in Shreve's opinion, is due in a large measure to an economic impasse which has arisen from governmental policies.

"Venture capital, which built up this country, has disappeared because of excessive taxation," Shreve said. "We need 50 billions of dollars a year for industrial expansion but the money is being appropriated for spending by the government instead of my private enterprise."

The speaker suggested equalization of the capital gains tax, reorganization of government under recommendations of the Hoover commission, which he said should receive active support of all communities, and indirectly by more general participation by the people in government, through study, acquaintance with public officials and by voting.

"It was disgraceful that only 45,000,000 persons voted at the last presidential election," he said.

Students Get New Facilities

University of Oregon, Eugene, August 26—This fall, for the first time since the war, University of Oregon students will have room to breathe. A new look has been added to the campus that will add attractiveness and alleviate crowded conditions.

Nearing the final phases of construction are Carson hall (the new women's dormitory), and the modern University theater. Recently completed were the new wing on the school of music, and interior remodeling of Villard. The 424-seat theater will be an addition to Villard. Scheduled for completion before the academic year is out are the Student Union building and a major addition to the library.

Carson hall, a $1,500,000 fire-proof concrete and brick building, will house 333 coeds. In addition to suites for small-group living, and a spacious dining hall, the dormitory will have small bean parlors, reception rooms, and music rooms. A sun-deck is planned on the roof.

The theater will feature the finest in seating, stage, lighting, acoustic, and personal comfort facilities. Six major productions will be presented yearly.

Remodeling Villard hall has allowed the radio, speech, and drama divisions to be consolidated under one roof.

When the Erb Memorial Union is completed, a center for student activities will be provided on the campus for the first time. Offices of the Associated Students of the University, and student affairs will be located there.

The large new ballroom can double as an auditorium or banquet room. A post office, barber shop, soda bar, as well as recreational rooms and an art lounge will be housed in the building.

A new service arrangement will be possible with the additional space provided by enlarging the library. Instead of having an attendant get books for students from the stacks, the student will be allowed to browse among the stacks.

Union Monopoly To Be Checked

Washington, Aug. 26 (AP)—Senator Robertson (D-Va.) said today the Senate Banking committee is considering sending a subcommittee to Hawaii to investigate the economic power of the CIO Longshoremen's union.

The union has been on strike for 117 days, paralyzing island shipping.

Robertson said the inquiry would be part of the banking committee's broad investigation into monopoly charges against labor organizations.

Small business men in Hawaii have asked him, Robertson said, to send a subcommittee to look into the union's "ability to completely close down Hawaii's economy."

Southern Oregon's Umpqua river still holds the world's record for the largest stream caught Chinook salmon. It weighed 83 pounds and was reported in 1910.

Sheriff Elliott Has Large Staff

Portland, Aug. 26 (AP)—Multnomah county has 537 regularly commissioned sheriff's deputies and some 240 holding special commissions, the Oregon Journal reported today.

The special commissions aren't particularly unusual—some 2000 of them were issued in the 18 years Martin Pratt was sheriff. The sheriff's reserve, public officials and various others got them.

Regular commissions, however, were rarely issued by Pratt to other than his office personnel, the newspaper said a check of county clerk's records disclosed. The present sheriff, Marion Elliott, has a staff of 230 and in addition has issued 307 regular commissions to such outsiders as Mike Decicco, Portland tire dealer; Nicholas Granel, county Democratic party chairman; and State Senator Jack Bain, the Journal reported.
