

Chiefs Win 2 from Salem

Loop Leading Yakima Opens Here Sunday

A five and a half hour program that didn't end until early Saturday morning, proved satisfactory to the 3290 paying guests within the confines of Waters park, insofar as Johnny Price's part of the performance was concerned, but the double win of the Wenatchee Chiefs over the Salem Senators was not so thoroughly enjoyed. Both games were lost by one run margins—6-5 and 7-6.

The result gave the Chiefs a slim foothold on third place after leapfrogging a half game ahead of the Spokane Indians. The double loss enlarged the gap between the sixth place Senators and the fifth position Victoria Athletics to a game and a half.

The two clubs will close out their final series of the season here at 8 o'clock Saturday night. The Solons will remain at the home lot for a twin bill with the Yakima Bears Sunday evening at 6 and a single tilt Monday night at 8.

Stu Fredericks had Friday night's initial contest charged against his record and Bill Osborn lost the second. Neither one was around for the finish. Fredericks gave way to Jim Olson who came in for Fredericks when the latter was yanked in the fifth.

The somewhat elderly Vern Johnson, Wenatchee stockholder, notched his first win of the season as Manager Charlie Peterson endeavored to save his top chucker for the Shaughnessy playoffs. Johnson was relieved in the sixth by Lou McCollum. Cy Greenlaw went the full nine innings in the nightcap principally because his mates rallied in the fifth to break a 3 to 3 deadlock. Greenlaw, a bit unsteady at times, walked nine batters, but tightened up when necessary. Fifteen Solons were left stranded as a result of this strategy.

After getting away to a 3 to 0 lead that stood up through four frames of the first game, the Chiefs went on the warpath in the fifth to rack up six runs. Three doubles, two singles, a walk and a wild pitch turned the trick.

Trailing 7 to 3, the Senators got back in the ball game in the eighth as the result of two hits and an error. The combination was good for two runs and three men on base. They all remained there as Mel Wasley hit a long fly to Hal Rhyne in right field to end the rally. Then in the ninth the Solons cut loose with another brace of hits and had the bases bulging when Dick Bartle grounded out to close out the night's performance.

Price, who has added a few variations to his skillful entertainment, gave a pleasing exhibition.

Mel Wasley hit his 22nd home run of the season in the first game with nobody aboard and Nick Pescut clouted one in the nightcap on one on.

In other games Victoria beat Vancouver, 6-4, and the reviving Tacoma Tigers, made it three in a row over the trailing Bremerton Tars, 8-2.

SCHEDULE FAVORITES

Them that has, gets, money attracts money or similar words to that effect sums up the situation in connection with the Pacific Coast Conference football schedule. For instance, there is Stanford with a list of 10 games, all but two of which will be played at Palo Alto. A sweet set up for the Indians it there ever was one. The U.S.C. Trojans have been equally favored in being able to play all but two of their games on the home lot.

MONEY TALKS

There is little the northern clubs can do about a schedule of this sort for the population, the stadiums and the money are pretty much centered in California. Eventually, and we hope it is not far distant, Oregon and O.S.C. will have greatly enlarged plants. Then they will be armed with something of a solid nature when they meet with the Californians for a dickering match each winter. There's no denying that games with Stanford, U.C.L.A., and U.S.C. and California provide the northerners with the cash to meet their expenses. That being the case it is only natural that the schedules are fashioned accordingly. One Seattle game that will doubtless draw heavy attendance from this section if tickets are available is the Washington-Notre Dame clash set for October 1. The "Fighting Irish" have made numerous trips to Southern California but their appearances in the northwest have been far from frequent.

EUGENE BASEBALL

"Organized baseball can be established in Eugene for a total investment of $75,000," writes Dick Strite in his Eugene Register Guard "High Climber" column. "This" Strite continues, "was revealed this week by George Emigh, presently business manager of the Salem Senators and vice president of the Western International league." Total investment would include the Bremerton, Wash. franchise in the W.I.L., a modern concrete and frame baseball park seating 4,000 fans, and enough capital for operating expenses for one season. Strite states the comparatively low cost of the project "will be made possible because of several reasons. Bill Shepard, owner of the Bremerton club, is anxious to dispose of his franchise and holds controlling interest in the club. A Western International league club here has been offered a 99-year lease, at no cost, to property in the Bethel district adequate for a modern baseball park and sufficient space for a large parking area." The Eugene columnist goes on to state that speed is necessary "in view of the offer by three Washington cities, including Wenatchee, for the Bremerton franchise." The Bluejackets owner has agreed to take no action on the sale for at least two weeks.

IDEAL SETUP

Since Eugene and Salem have been rivals down through the years in numerous activities and are now engaged in a bit of jousting concerning their respective populations, there is little doubt but that the Western International would be strengthened by including both cities. Such a situation would permit the Washington and British Columbia clubs to play two series in Oregon on each invasion instead of one. The situation may not be clarified until October when league magnates meet to investigate all angles to the picture.

Clint Cameron Still on Top WIL Batting Chase

Dick Sinovic's .387 does not rate him an official second place by Howe News Bureau because he has played in but 68 games as compared with 115 for Rhyne. Mel Wasley, one of the two Salem hitters with a better than .300 mark, dropped off five points during the week. Bob Cherry raised his average by six.

Jim Robinson of Vancouver took over the lead in the stolen base department with 35 thefts, topping Edo Vanni of Yakima by two. Dick Briskley of Yakima shared his lead in the doubles division with Gil McDougal of Victoria with 36 each.

Committee Will Meet Mulligan

With their program pretty well mapped and with a general idea as to worth of the property involved, the committee headed by Harry V. Collins, named during a recent mass meeting to negotiate for the purchase of Waters field and the Salem baseball franchise, will wait on Bill Mulligan at his Portland office next week. Arrangements for the conference were completed Saturday afternoon during a meeting held in Collins' office.

Daughter to Petersons

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Bud Peterson in a Portland hospital Thursday forenoon. Peterson, regular shortstop on the Senator club, has been out of the lineup for several days due to a leg injury. It is doubtful if he will play again during the balance of the season.

Luck Holding Hollywood Up; Beavers Win

San Francisco's Seals did a neat about-flip to topple Oakland and keep staggering Hollywood two games ahead in the race last night.

Trailing 3-7 going into the last of the ninth, the seals erupted for five runs, Jackie Tobin supplying a triple with bases loaded to tie it up. He then slid home on Dario Lodigiani's fly to center, winning the game 8-7.

Milo Candini, who relieved Charley Gassaway, was the victim of the final punch. Con Dempsey, touched for 13 hits, went the route for his 16th win.

Hollywood was spilled by Los Angeles, 8-5, for the third time in four nights. A five-run barrage against Jack Salveson in the fifth sewed it up. Bryan Stephens was the winner. The stars' margin remained two games over the second-place Oaks.

Third-place Sacramento also obliged by bowing to Portland, 5-3, staying three games off the pace. Hal Saltzman racked up his 18th victory with a six hitter.

On Allie Clark's homerun, San Diego edged Seattle 1-0 in their battle for fourth position. Red Adams' three hitter was too much for the Rainiers. Rugger Ardizola gave up five.

Shrine Teams Set for Battle

Portland, Aug. 27 (AP)—Update high school all-stars will attempt tonight to score their second straight victory over Portland All-Stars in the annual Shrine benefit game here.

The contest, between teams of players who were graduated last spring, will open the football season here. A crowd upwards of 20,000 is expected.

The up-state team, which won the inaugural last year, is favored. The upstaters, coached by Mel Ingram of Grants Pass, have a weight advantage and ample backfield speed.

The Portlanders are expected to rely on passing to score an upset. Both teams will use the T-formation.

Pageantry will precede the 8:30 p.m. kickoff. Seven bands, nine drum corps, 32 marching units and six drill teams will parade in Multnomah stadium prior to the starting whistle.

Huskies Open Drills

Seattle, Aug. 27 (AP)—Washington, with prospects of the greenest football team in history, will begin fall practice Monday. Of the 60 expected, only 16 are lettermen. Coach Howie Odell said today four sophomores probably will be in the starting lineup of the opening game against Utah here Sept. 17, and five more likely will be on the second team. Missing will be three-letterman Halfback Whitely King, ruled ineligible yesterday because he failed to make up his spring quarter low grades.
