Teams Line Up For Semi-Final Softball Meets

Eugene, Aug. 30 (AP)-Albany and Pendleton were lined up to-day in the semi-finals of the state softball tournament.

Four other teams are set to play tonight for similar spots.

Pendleton edged Corvallis 1

The winning run came in as Dennis Jobes walked, went to second on a sacrifice, and after another walk, scored while Don Grossmuller reached first on a double play error. Grossmuller bowled over the first sacker as he skidded into the base and the throw from second, on a relay from short, went past, allowing Jobes to score.

Albany's Elwyn Shaw hurled St. Helens. Albany scored its runs in the first and second in-

One could easily believe that Johnny Price, the fellow who does more things with a baseball than seems humanly possible, would take a day off after one of his programs. Not so. He only does that when it is entirely impossible to fill the next engagement without the intervention of 24 hours in time. The airplane has made it possible for Price to enlarge a schedule to such an extent he is able to stage a program almost every day. For instance, after he concluded his exhibition at Waters park, he drove the car he rented in Portland back to that city and boarded a plane for Davion.

Portland back to that city and boarded a plane for Dayton, Ohio, where he showed the next night. Contrary to the idea we had about Price's compensation, he works on a straight fee basis—no cut on the net receipts. His charges are based on the class of the league in which he is showing. Naturally he gets more for a major club program than one in Class B where attendance is much less.

"Stick with the champion until he's beaten," quotes Norrie West, director of the University of California news bureau in his "football digest" for 1949. That being the case then we should go along with the University of Oregon Webfoots. Jim Alken's men played one more game than the Bears last fall in Pacific

Louttit Named Steward for State Fair Horse Racing

Thomas A. Louttit, widely known Oregon athletic figure, will act as racing commission steward of the state fair horse racing meet in Salem, Sept. 5

Charles A. Evans, fair speed superintendent, also announce ed this week that Dr. Clifford Bjork of Portland would act as veterinarian of the meet. Richard Munson, veteran northwest turfman, will act as racing secretary for the first time.

Meanwhile, vans of thoroughbreds are coming to the fair stable area each day from Canadian and California tracks as well as Longacres. A number of strings which have recently campaigned on the tough Montana fair circuit are also entered in the Salem meet for the first time.

No definite word has been received as to the jockeys who will accept mounts on Lone Oak track. However, it is likely such former favorites as Harold "Pinky" Walker, Ken Coppernoll, and Howard Conley will again be booting winners home during the fair.
