GAR Breaks-up For Last Time

Indianapolis, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Grand Army of the Republic broke up for the last time today. There was a final clasp of shaking old hands last night, a Godspeed from their commander and a prayer. Today six old veterans are scattering never to meet again, at least in formal encampment. They signed and sealed the decision in their only business session yesterday. Then for more than an hour, veterans of later wars marched behind separate cars in which the six tired old soldiers rode in a twilight parade. Almost 100,000 thronged the curbs along the 12-block route, cheering the aged men in their last blaze of martial glory. The war memories were few and fleeting in the "campfire" session that closed the 83rd and last encampment. "I was a drum major," offered Albert Woolson, 102, Duluth, Minn., who was a named junior vice-commander yesterday. Theodore A. Penland, 100, Vancouver, Wash., waved happily from the back of an automobile seat all along the parade route. At the "campfire," he bravely sang "Tenting on the Old Campground." Penland proudly received a diamond-studded past commander's badge, though he'll now be commander for life. The badge, pinned on his blue uniform by his grandson, Eldon C. Geyer, of East Lansing, Mich., recognizes his service for the past year. For the other centenarians, any war memories were crowded out by the present and the uncertainties of life.

Dam Area Shy School Rooms

Detroit, Ore., Sept. 1 (AP)—Construction of the new Detroit dam on the North Santiam river is going along briskly—and that's a headache for school teachers.

That's because the influx of population threatens to overcrowd the schools. Mill City, which had 1,223 residents in 1947, is estimated at 2,500 population now. Detroit, Gates and the surrounding areas have boomed, too.

School officials said that even the newly built schools may not be enough to accommodate pupils easily. Mill City has a new 12-room grade school; Gates has added new facilities; and Lyons consolidated district plans to complete a building in October.

Meanwhile work continued apace on the dam. The 1,400-foot diversion tunnel through the mountain on the south bank will be opened tomorrow. Crews reported solid rock throughout, promising a solid foundation for the dam.

Construction was also going forward on the fish hatchery, being built at Marion Forks to care for salmon and game trout whose spawning grounds will be cut off by Detroit dam.

Bloodmobile at Naval Reserve Center

Mrs. Conrad Paulson will be the supervisor from the local Red Cross assistants staff for the visitation of the bloodmobile at the naval and marine corps naval reserve training center, Thursday evening.

The unit will be in operation from 6 p.m. on.

With the Labor day weekend holiday near at hand, local Red Cross officials point out the possibility of greater needs for blood supplies and urge all men who can volunteer to donate their blood at this visitation. The unit comes here at the invitation of the training center, marines, seabees and others being invited to help out as well as the naval reserves.

Mac Says Japs Fulfill Terms

Tokyo, Sept. 1 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur assured the world today on the fourth anniversary of Japan's surrender that the Japanese have fully and faithfully fulfilled their surrender terms and are entitled to a peace treaty.

He gave the assurance in a lengthy review of four years of allied occupation under his supreme command. But he made no prediction of when a peace conference might be convened.

He said the threat on communism as a major issue in Japan has passed. It once was a real threat, he said, but "fell victim of its own excesses."

MacArthur predicted the economic collapse of communist China. He told the Japanese that, although they must increase their foreign trade, they should shun Communist China.

Communist China, he said, would not be able to produce enough for its own needs, let alone having anything to offer Japan.

In a passage aimed at the Japanese public, he took a swipe at both socialism and communism. He said an individual cannot be free politically unless he is free economically.

Miller Decision Delayed
The state civil service commission said today it would be at least two weeks before the commission rules on the case of Dr. Horace Miller, state hospital psychiatrist who was fired for insubordination.

Nut Growers Pay 1948 Wage Scale

Oregon nut growers will pay pickers the same wages as last year, growers decided at a meeting here.

The wage for filberts will be 2 cents a pound, plus a half-cent bonus for pickers staying on through the harvest season.

Walnut growers will pay 1 1/2 cents a pound, plus a bonus of 1/4 cent.

Growers predicted an unusually heavy crop.
