
Say Ahhh! Roger Dasch, Salem high product, leaps for a sailing ball as he drills with the Oregon College of Education Wolves at Monmouth. Dasch is rated Coach Bill McArthur's No. 2 quarterback, and is pushing Abe Johnson for the starting position. Dasch is an excellent passer and has a good eye in spotting potential receivers.

Hood Aerial Tram To Be Ready for Winter Ski Time

Portland, Sept. 10 (AP)—By the time the winter ski season comes around the aerial tramway from Government Camp up the slopes of Mt. Hood will be operating.

Dr. J. Otto George, president of the firm constructing the lift, said 38 cable towers are in place, and the only work that remains is cable-stringing.

Wenatchee Field Hand Takes WIL Batting Laurels

Although hampered by injuries during the late season, Clint Cameron, Wenatchee outfielder-first baseman won the Western International league batting crown, according to unofficial records of the Howe News Bureau. At the time of the compilation Wenatchee had three games to play but Cameron's .378 average, 14 points better than Hal Rhyne, seemed safe.

Bill Brenner of Vancouver, had an average of .387 in 66 games as compared with the 109 played by Cameron. Dick Bartle, Salem first sacker, in 24 games compiled an average of .378, while Dick Sinovic who joined Vancouver after mid-season hit .367 in 87 contests.

Other Senators who finished above the .300 mark are Mel Wasley .327, Bob Cherry .315, Orrin Snyder .308, Art Penington .308 and Bill Burgher .306.

Salem placed second to Vancouver in the matter of double plays, 152 to 178 as of Sept. 4.

WOODBURN ALLEYS TO OPEN FOR PLAY MONDAY

Woodburn——The Woodburn bowling alleys will open for the winter season September 12 and play will be from 2 p. m. until midnight. Anyone who is interested in playing in one of the bowling leagues is asked to contact Frank (Jim) Chapelle, associate president, or register at the alleys.

Potential Vik First Team is Named; Trappers Boast Hot Veteran Backs

A potential starting lineup leaving several slots still in doubt for the 1949 Viking football team, was disclosed Saturday by Coach Loren Mort who will send his gridders into action next Friday.

Thus far, the only relatively certain starting assignments are likely to go to Doug Rogers at right end, Gordy Sloan at quarter and Deb Davis at full.

Other posts on the Salem high team, however, are still being hotly contested with Mort's greatest problem at center where four candidates, two of them lettermen, are equally steady at the pivot post. The lettermen are Jerry Graves and Tom Sodeman with John Enger and Ron Walters trying for the first time on the varsity.

At right end, Mort is still undecided between Don Boyd and Tom Angle. For tackles, he is considering Gordy Bacon, Frank Parker and Phil Thompson.

Two speedsters, both of whom have shown up well in scrimmages, are pacing each other for the left half slot in the T formation backfield with Dale Olson and Tom Bridges neck-and-neck for the right half slot.

Night scrimmages for the Viking crew have smoothed many rough spots but more scrimages are indicated before the high school campaigners are ready for the Vancouver Trappers next Friday.

The Vancouver crew is packed with 12 lettermen, but only two of them are returning for the forward wall. But behind that green line is a talent-packed group of backs which may rip the Salems to shreds.

One of the probable starters for the Trappers will be Ben Mosely, a negro youth, out for his second year as a backfield man. He was "overlooked" last year according to information from Vancouver, but has come into his own for the 1949 season. He is expected to pair with Dick Moore in a rabbit act of speed.

Jim McDowell, colored ace of the 1948 Vancouver team backfield who is painfully remembered by Mort and his high school veterans, is back again, but hot competition is expected to oust him from his first team job.

Morning chalk talks and afternoon scrimmages have marked the Trapper get-ready campaign. Energy put forth in scrimmage can be measured by the fact that Ed Shobert, soph back, broke a collar bone in scrimmage for the sophomore team. Moore and another potential varsity backfield starter also turned up with minor injuries this week, but are back in action.

Quarterback duties for the Trapper crew are currently being divided between Bobby Dunn, a soph, and Bob Hopkins.

A new coach at the Vancouver school, Roy Sandberg berg, is expected to be out to prove his technicque for the Viks in the opener on Friday.

Jamie Deckard Is Named Top S-Stop; Feted by 'Night'

Jamie Deckard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Deckard f Salem was honored with a "night" in Rockola stadium, Chicago, home of the National Girls Softball league when she received gifts from fans valued in excess of $1000. The Deckards were present for the program.

Official records compiled by the Howe News Bureau indicate that Miss Deckard is the leading shortstop of the league, rating such recognition during the five year period beginning in 1945. She set a new league record for shortstops in 1948 with a fielding average of .951 in 112 games.

Her 1949 fielding mark of .964 included participation in 89 games through mid-August when she had 230 putouts, 311 assists, a hand in 23 double plays with only 20 errors. During the season she had strings of 14, 13 and 20 games without a boot.

Sunday Deadline Set for Tourney Golf Qualifiers

With less than a half hundred on the dotted line, qualifying for the annual Salem Golf club championship may not reach the expected 100 by Sunday evening's deadline. However, it is expected this feature of the fall classic will take on renewed life over the week-end.

Dr. Harold Olinger is medalist with his score of 70. Previously is was erroneouly stated that Harold Hauk had taken this honor.

First round competition will be inaugurated as soon as the committee in charge has time to make the pairings early next week.

Approximately 17,000,000 work days were lost in farm accidents in this country in 1948.

BoSox Trim Yanks to Knot Series; Bums, Cards Lose

New York, Sept. 10 (AP)—After all of the smoke and commotion, it looked to most folks today as if the American league pennant race was right back where it was before the Yankees and Red Sox split two vital games—but it didn't look the same to Casey Stengel.

"Sure we win one and then they win one," said the homespun millionaire who pilots the Yankees. "But remember that we're two games closer to where we've got to go and they ain't any closer to catching us."

Which seemed logical at that, for the Yankees emerge from the big series with their game and a half lead still intact and with only 23 more to play. And the Red Sox remained four big games behind in the losing column with only 18 left in which to make them up, giving the Yankees a greater winning potential. Stengel stressed that winning potential.

"Yeah, if we're lucky, some day when they have an off day and we play we go two games up by winning and we have a chance to do even better than that."

However, a few things worried Stengel about yesterday's 7 to 1 defeat in which Ellis Kinder pitcher four-hit ball and struck out eight in winning his 19th game.

"It was the first time all year—knock on wood—that we really looked bad in the infield," he said, dutifully pounding a base board. "On that run-down play in the third when they have a guy trapped between second and third you'd of thought it was Ty Cobb on a motorcycle instead of an old fellow like Birdie Tebbetts, the way they were jellying around. I just sat in the duguot and whistled—'ter wheet ta whee, ter wheet ta whee.'"

The Yankees get a chance to pick up ground today when they play host to the Washington Senators in a doubleheader while the Red Sox visit the Philadelphia A's for a single game.

The Cards still lead the Dodgers by one game in the National league race, the situation remaining the same after both dropped games yesterday.

The New York Giants, exploding for six runs in the seventh inning at the expense of Preacher Roe and Ralph Branca, whipped the Dodgers, 10 to 1.

That gave the Cards a chance to gain, but they muffed it by losing to the Reds, 6 to 1, in a Cincinnati night game. Johnny Vander Meer allowed the Cards only five hits, beating them for the third time this year.

Walt Dubiel pitched the Chicago Cubs to an 8 to 1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates, missing a shutout when Ralph Kiner rammed his 44th homer in the ninth inning. It was the 12th loss in 13 games for Pittsburgh. The Cubs scored seven runs in the fifth, four on Andy Pafko's grand-slam homer.

The Cleveland Indians, the A. L.'s third-placers, moved within five games of the Yankees by beating the Browns, 5 to 2.

The Athletics completed a three-game sweep against the Senators by winning a night game, 5 to 2, for Bob Shantz' fifth victory.

Plan to Escort Bearcat Coach, Team to Barbecue

Details of the second annual barbecue honoring Willamette university's football coaching staff and team members have been completed and those in charge are now hoping for better weather.

The W. L. Phillips home, 195 West Lefelle street, is the place and 6:30 Monday evening is the time. The Bearcats and the coaches will be given an escorted ride to the Phillips home from Lausanne hall to assure their safe arrival.

Tickets for the affair, which is open to all men, can be secured at Maple's or at the scene of the dinner.

DUCK STAMPS ON SALE AT SALEM POST OFFICE

Duck stamps are now available at the Salem post office, Postmaster Albert C. Gragg announces. They sell at $2 each and must be in the possession of all duck hunters.

Big 'Cats, Little 'Cats—WU Roster Names Team

Willamette university's football line will not be giants in stature, neither will they be pigmies, judging by the Bearcat roster just compiled under the authorship of Travis Cross, director of information.

A potential lineup that would include Cece Johnson and Bob White, ends; Bill Kukaniko and Chuck Massey, tackles; Chas. Bowe and Art Beddoe, guards and Chas. Patterson, center would aggregate 1375 pounds or an average of 196 for the forward wall.

Heaviest member of the squad is Ken Erickson, 18 year old prospective tackle from Scappoose. He weighs 233 pounds. However, Chuck Massey, a 225 pound tackle with a year's experience is a close second.

Lightweights of the club are Bruce Jarman, 145 pound quarterback from Grant high, Portland, and Captain Howard Lorenz, two year letterman.

Coach Chester Stackhouse reports satisfaction over progress being made although he has found it necessary to split his squad into two groups for practice purposes because most of his men are working at the state fair. Half have worked for an hour and 15 minutes each forenoon and the balance for a similar time in the afternoon.

Beginning next Monday the entire squad will be available for all drills. Coach Stackhouse reports he will not be in a position to name names until some time next week. In the meantime efforts are being concentrated on the first game of the season against University of Idaho at Moscow, Sept. 17.

Skits and Scratches

By FRED ZIMMERMAN, Capital Journal Sports Editor

Close Race Is Expected

The sports axiom to string along with the champions until beaten is probably a logical idea but in the case of the Northwest conference, one cannot overlook the possibilities at Pacific and at Lewis and Clark. Each school reports large groups of returning veterans and view of last year's performance of the Badger and Pioneers this seems significant. However, College of Idaho, 1948 title winner, cannot be expected to abdicate with out a struggle. What will develop at Willamette and Whitman, where new coaches have been installed remains to be seen. Archie Kodros succeeds Dave Strong at Whitman and Chester Stackhouse has taken over at the Bearcat institution. Linfield, with Paul Durham at the helm, could possibly do the unexpected to finish out in front although few anticipate such a walloping of the dope bucket.

Kramer Looks Fit

Fritz Kramer, recent addition to the sales staff of Maple's sports store, could be considered a good example of what a less nerve wracking job than coaching can accomplish for one's innards. When Fritz left Eugene high a few years back he was a physical wreck with a stomach full of ulcers. And while he enjoyed coaching there wasn't much he could do but look for something else if he valued his life. So he took up selling footballs, helmets, jerseys, hip pads and the like. The change didn't eliminate the ulcers, it took surgery to accomplish that, but it did give him a new lease on life. Currently he is a bit off his normal weight because of hard work during the summer, but he isn't on a diet in spite of the fact the surgeons eventually whacked off more than half of his stomach.

Emotional Upset

Being wrapped up in the success of the boys whom he directs, most coaches are subject to attacks of emotional upsets. And these affairs, repeated often enough produce those ulcers that can cause serious trouble. In a sense Kramar was probably "born 30 years too soon", for he carried the full load of basketball, football and baseball at Eugene. Most of the high schools of the higher classification have gotten away from this man killing practice. But it took its toll with Fritz. He believes much of the success or failure of a team is nothing more than a reflection of the attitude of the coach. "If I went into a practice session or a game low in spirits, consciously or otherwise the boys reflected my attitude. We often lost as a result. On the otherhand if I displayed a lot of pep and energy, the boys responded accordingly."

Hunter and the Farmer

Much of the blame for the poor public relationship between the fellow who likes to hunt and the land owner can be charged against the former. And in pointing out that "the key to good hunting can be found in the pocket of the farmer," Henry P. Davis, manager of the public relations for the Remington company, states "the sooner the individual sportsman realizes that fact and starts doing something about it, the sooner he'll enjoy better hunting." In this connection Davis outlines the "Ten Commandments of country courtesy."

The Ten Commandments

1—Always drive into the farmer's yard and ask permission to hunt. 2—Hunt only in the areas he designates. Never go on ground he wishes to keep inviolate. 3—Respect his fences. If necessary to climb them, climb over by a post. Use gates if possible, closing them behind you. Always replace lowered bars. 4—Never shoot near houses, barns or livestock. 5—Leave his fruit and other crops alone. If you want some, buy it from him. 6—Go around fields where people are working. Do not walk on seeded ground or through standing grain. 7—Shoot crows and predators that do damage to his crops and livestock. 8—Share you game with him. 9—On your next trip, bring his wife or children some little gift or token of friendship. 10—After you've become well acquainted, suggest a planting program to better game habitat, offering to finance it or help him with it.

Officials Told Grid Exams Set For Monday Nite

Reminder that the Oregon School Activities association will conduct its annual examination for prospective football officials next Monday night at the high school is being made by John Kolb.

Kolb, recently named president of the Salem Official association, states that the test will be given by Odon Hawes of the OSIA. Motion pictures will be used to demonstrate the latest changes in rules.

Fateful Tosses Permit Oaks to Gain on Stars

San Francisco, Sept. 10 (U.P.)—A couple of ninth-inning pitches moved the Oakland Oaks up to within three games of the Hollywood Stars in the fight for the Pacific Coast league bunting.

In Hollywood, Gordon Maltzberger tossed a home run ball to Allie Clark with one on in the ninth and the San Diego Padres beat the Stars 3-2.

In Oakland, Frank Nelson hurled a pitch that Jim Tabor popped up with the tying runs on base and two out, and the Oaks emerged victorious 5-3 over the Sacramento Solons.

The only other game in the league was a slaughter with San Francisco murdering Seattle 13-2. Los Angeles and Portland were forced to postpone hostilities because of wet grounds. They will meet in a doubleheader this afternoon.

The San Francisco Seals tore apart four Seattle pitchers in batting out a 13-2 win. Guy Fletcher, trying for his 23rd win, got a loss instead—without giving up a hit. Fletcher got two out and walked two in the first inning before blowing his top, throwing his glove and winding up in the showers. The runners later tallied and were charged to the fiery Fletcher.

Seattle was never in the game as the Seals pounded out 14 hits, including a home run by Dick LaJeskie. The Suds got two runs in the seventh to escape being shutout, but were only able to nick Steve Nagy for five safeties altogether.

Underdogs Snare Wins In WI League Playoffs

(By the Associated Press)

A change of scenery added up to their first victories last night for Spokane and Wenatchee in the Western International Baseball league playoffs.

Opening on their home field after two play-off series losses to Yakima, the Spokane Indians whipped the league champs, 16 to 15 in a batting free-for-all. The Spokes scored seven runs in the sixth frame.

The Wenatchee Chiefs let loose with four runs in the seventh inning before a home-town crowd to beat Vancouver, 9 to 6, after dropping a pair in Canada.

Yakima could have ended the series with victory. But Spokane shattered the effects of a Yakima rally that brought them from behind in the ninth inning by beating down Relief Hurler Gene Babbit in the Indians half.

The winning run came on Second Baseman George Valine's single with the bases loaded and two men out. Minutes before, Outfielder Lyle Palmer tied the score on Paul Zaby's single.

Yakima outhit the Bears 17 to 14. Six Bear hurlers saw action against two for Spokane. Bill Werbowski was the winner and Babbit the loser.

First Baseman Clint Cameron of Wenatchee collected two homers and Catcher Nick Pestu knocked a pair of doubles to lead the Chiefs' 15-hit attack.

Righthander Joe Orel was credited with the win and Jim Hedgecock was charged with the loss. Incidentally, Hedgecock climbed the mound moments after being informed that his wife had entered a Vancouver hospital to have a baby.

The two best-of-five series continue today.
