

Legion Posts Pick Leaders

Sephus W. Starr and Susan Faherty became new commanders of American Legion posts number 9 and 149, respectively, in formal installation services held at the Legion club Monday night. Clyde Dickey, past state vice-commander, was installing officer, aided by a ritualistic team from Rose City post 35 of Portland. Mrs. Walter Spaulding was installed as president of post 9's auxiliary.

Starr succeeds Charles Huggins as commander of Oregon's second largest Legion post, while Miss Faherty succeeds Harriet Belcher as commander of one of the state's three all-women posts.

Other capital post 9 officers installed Monday were John C. Kerrick, first vice-commander; James Turnbull, second vice-commander; T. J. Brabec, finance officer; John Crockett, adjutant; Lloyd Hockett, quartermaster; Rev. George H. Swift, chaplain; A. G. Worthington, sergeant-at-arms.

Other 149 officers installed are Sylvia Kraps, first vice-commander; Bertha Wickman, second vice-commander; Elizabeth Skinner, adjutant; Essie White, finance officer; Ann Raffell, chaplain; Virgie Terry, sergeant-at-arms; Katherine Rahl, service officer, and Janet Hall, historian.

Need Pickers For Filberts

Ordinarily the Salem employment office takes the filbert picking season "in stride," but this year appears to be an exception, stated W. H. Baillie, manager, Tuesday as he issued a call for additional pickers.

A half dozen growers who appeared at the South Cottage and Ferry street office of the employment service Tuesday morning, returned to their homes without a single worker.

The filbert crop is reported good and growers are paying two and three cents a pound for picking.

From Hood River comes the report that apple pickers are in demand there with camping privileges available at many orchards. However, pickers must provide their own cooking facilities as well as bedding.

Oregon Wool Sale Set for Wednesday

Portland, Ore., Sept. 20 (AP)—The first local test of economic trends since the devaluation of the English pound is expected Wednesday with the opening of bids on 5,000,000 pounds of Oregon wool.

Buyers expected that prices might be down 10 to 20 percent compared to last week's quotations because of devaluations in the sterling countries including competitive Australia.

In the longer run, some northwest lumber dealers were apprehensive lest Canada's 10-cent devaluation of the Canadian dollar softens the already sagging lumber market.

Malt and flour industries in Oregon also expected some setbacks but until the foreign price picture clarifies the doubts were all speculative.

Farm Income Now Exceeds Lumber

Hillsboro, Ore., Sept. 20 (AP)—Farm income now is more important to Oregon than lumbering, previously regarded as the No. 1 industry in the state.

So asserted Lowell Steen, president of the Oregon farm bureau federation at a regional meeting of the organization here yesterday.

He told the 75 delegates from northwestern Oregon counties that farm income had outstripped lumbering in recent years. The delegates drew up a series of resolutions to be presented at the state convention of the federation in La Grande, Nov. 14-16.

Object of Search—Gordon Zastoupil, 11, holds out a 5-inch needle to Donald Hanel, 10, of Eola, one of three that will be hidden in the haystack behind the boys as a feature of the North Marion county fair at Woodburn. The needles will be sought at the Lincoln school playground Saturday at 4 o'clock. Finders of the first two needles will receive $10 each and the third a cash prize of $3. All children under 13 years are eligible to hunt for the needles.

Plans for Pair Of Dams Urged

Planning funds for the proposed Green Peter dam on the South Santiam river and Cougar dam on the McKenzie river will be recommended to congress by the Willamette river basin commission.

Members of the commission, meeting in the state capitol Monday, pointed out that need of further hydro-electric development in the Willamette valley together with flood control merited the building of the two dams as soon as possible.

Chairman Ronald Jones said action now was needed because it generally takes from two to three years to complete planning necessary for obtaining a congressional appropriation for a project.

Russia Agrees To Big 4 Meet

Washington, Sept. 20 (AP)—The state department announced today that Russia has accepted a U. S. proposal that deputies of the Big Four foreign ministers reconvene in New York Sept. 22 to take up again the Austrian peace treaty question.

The department said the Big Three western ambassadors called on acting Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in Moscow after the Big Three ministers, meeting here, had formally expressed hope that Russia would agree to reopen the Austrian question.

"The acting foreign minister of the Soviet Union accepted on behalf of his government the proposal already made for the resumption of the meetings of the deputies on the Austrian treaty convening on Sept. 22 in New York, and assured the three ambassadors that the Soviet deputy would participate," a department announcement said.

The ambassadors handed Gromyko parallel notes amplifying the Big Three communique, which stressed the importance attached by the west to an early Austrian treaty. The announcement said "the outstanding points of difference were outlined" at the meeting between Gromyko and the ambassadors.

The foreign ministers and their deputies have been unable to agree on terms of the treaty, and Austria has remained under occupation.

Con Confused On Pinson Grave

Spokane, Sept. 20 (AP)—An Oregon prison escapee led authorities through remote areas of the Idaho Panhandle and western Montana yesterday, then said he was too "confused" to find the grave he claims holds the body of John O. Pinson, another escaped prisoner.

William Benson clung steadfast, however, to his story that Pinson was shot as the two fled the Oregon penitentiary at Salem May 30 and that he buried him in the area.

But his inability to find the grave strengthened belief of police that Pinson is alive. They say he has been identified "positively" from pictures as being the Joseph Anthony Dorlan now being sought in Idaho for armed robbery.

Benson, who was recaptured in Columbus, Ohio, two weeks ago, returned here with officers last night.

At Salem, Prison Warden George Alexander said that the Spokane officers are taking Benson today to try to find a restaurant where Benson claims he and Pinson ate. Then, Alexander said, if this doesn't produce any results, Benson will be brought back to Salem, probably tomorrow.

5 More Plead Guilty to Plot

Budapest, Hungary, Sept. 20 (AP)—Five more defendants pleaded guilty today to plotting against the government of Hungary and against the Soviet Union.

Like the other three defendants before them, none of the five showed any hesitancy in admitting to a people's court that they took part in a plot backed by Premier Marshal Tito, the communist outcast who rules Yugoslavia.

Dr. Tibor Szoenyi, 46, former chief of the communist party's cadre section, publicly announced that neither drugs nor force was used on him to obtain a confession.

The others who pleaded guilty included Andras Szalai, 32, Szoenyi's deputy in the communist party; Nilan Ogyenyovics, a Hungarian of Serb origin; Bela Korondky, former army major; Pal Justus, 44, former member of the communist party's central leadership. Three others pleaded guilty previously, including Laszlo Rajk, once the number two communist of this country.

Szoenyi named Allen W. Dulles, head of the wartime American intelligence service, the office of strategic services (OSS) in Europe, as the man who hired him to spy.

But he had difficulty identifying photographs of Dulles in court. He spotted only one, after hesitation.

Fruit Shipments May Be Revived

Portland, Sept. 20 (AP)—Fruit shipments from the northwest to Britain may be revived as a result of the devaluation of the British pound.

British Consul James McDonald said an increased supply of American dollars in his country eventually should revive the former heavy fruit purchases here.

Before the war, Great Britain bought apples and pears by the shiploads each year. The trade has been virtually dormant for months.
