New Pact for Atomic Energy

Washington, Sept. 20 (P)-The United States, Britain and Canada open negotiations today for a new agreement on (1) ex-changing atomic secrets and (2) sharing the uranium from which the A-bomb is made. Their the A-bomb is made. Their war-born A-bomb partnership is at stake. The negotiations at this stage

The negotiations at this stage are wholly "exploratory" be-cause President Truman has promised that he will not make any commitments until after consulting congress.

In an atmosphere that was only slightly less than com-pletely secret, representatives of the three governments were called together at the state de-partment (10:30 a.m. PST).

American officials are close-ly restricted as to what they can do or say about atomic encan do or say about atomic en-ergy information—even within the conference with the British and Canadians.
