

HUSBAND LONESOME AT HOME

Mrs. America Missed By Husband and Kids

San Diego (AP)—The tall, handsome mechanic put down the talcum, picked up his 8-week-old daughter and opined as how "you never know how much you miss your wife until she becomes Mrs. America."

The mechanic, Arthur T. Cloyd, Jr., is keeping house and caring for their three children while his wife, blond and lovely Mrs. Frances L. Cloyd, is touring the nation as Mrs. America.

"We really don't know what the future will bring," Cloyd said. "That's something we will have to discuss when Frances comes home next month."

"I haven't seen her since she won the Mrs. America contest a little more than a week ago. We have talked on the phone, though, and she seems to be having a good time. I am awfully happy for her."

"But as far as a career is concerned, that's something we will have to talk over between us. The children come first, you know."

While Cloyd works days in a La Jolla garage, his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Becker, care for the children. Cloyd takes over each evening. "I do the changing, feeding and the works," Cloyd said. "I don't mind taking care of the children."

but I'll sure be glad when Frances gets home."

There are two sons, Tommy, 3, Terry, 2, and the baby daughter, Patricia.

"Haven't had any trouble with them at all. No trials or tribulations. The kids sure miss their mother, though. Guess we'll all be glad to have her home again," he said.

The Cloyds met in a typical wartime romance. She was the daughter of a marine corps captain and he was a navy chief petty officer. They met in San Diego in 1942 and were married.

After going east to live, they gave it up last April and came back to San Diego to make their home.

And for the many husbands and fathers throughout the nation whose wives might enter future Mrs. America contests, Cloyd has a bit of advice: "Try and keep 'em home, 'cause you don't know how much you'll miss 'em 'till they go away."

MARRIED WOMEN MORE BEAUTIFUL?

Mrs. America Repeats Challenge for Title Test

New York, Sept. 22 (AP)—Mrs. Frances Becker Cloyd, 23, Mrs. America of 1949, repeated today her challenge to Miss America for an all-American beauty title "for charity."

"It's not that I'm conceited," Mrs. Cloyd said, "but I think a woman isn't really mature until she is married and has children. It brings out more of her charm and loveliness."

Morse to Vote In Wheelchair

Washington, Sept. 22 (AP)—The office of Sen. Wayne Morse, R., Ore., said today he will cast his vote on the arms aid bill from a stretcher.

Morse will be brought to the capitol from Bethesda naval hospital where he has been recuperating from a fall from his prize-winning stallion at the Oregon state fair. His office said he would be wheeled on to the senate floor.

An office aide said she did not know how Morse would vote. But he was recorded in favor of the measure when it was approved by the senate foreign relations and armed services committees.

Morse, who must be kept in a reclining position due to muscle injuries, has had daily conference at the hospital with his office staff since he returned from Oregon a few days ago.

Mrs. Cloyd, a tall, trim blonde from San Diego, Cal., placed fourth in the Mrs. America contest last year as Mrs. Colorado. She is the mother of three children. Her third child was born eight weeks ago.

She said that was all the "training" she had for this year's contest.

Miss America, 18-year-old Jacqueline Mercer of Phoenix, Ariz., turned down Mrs. America's challenge last week, saying she wasn't interested in any more contests.

Management of the Mrs. America contest said that if the two titleists could not meet in person they would attempt to promote a picture contest through which the public could decide which is more beautiful.

Upset Stomachs Yield Inches of Gas and Bloat

"I was certainly 'out of whack' before I took Kai-O-Dex," writes Mr. Clint Humber, Box 246, Fowler, Calif., retired rancher. "I had to use strong laxatives constantly for the awful tightness I'd get in my stomach and bowels. Food made me sick and would back up into my throat for hours after eating—got so weak I could hardly walk up town. Then after 2 or 3 bottles of Kai-O-Dex my appetite improved and meals tasted good again. My bowels became regular so that the tightness around my waist disappeared and I've surprised my friends by the difference in my looks and actions. I'm a great booster for Kai-O-Dex in my town."

KAI-O-DEX is a proven formula of a Great Herb; these herbs cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, acts on sluggish intestines and as a diuretic on kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering—get KAI-O-DEX today. Sold by all Drug Stores.

The spokesman said Mrs. Power left the hospital Monday but is continuing her recuperation in Paris. The Powers were married last spring in Rome.
