

YWCA Activities Varied; not Limited to Youth of City

Located in the 700 block of State street is the YWCA, one of the Community Chest supported organizations, which serves as a gathering place for many of the youth of the city.

The YWCA's activities, however, are not limited to the younger generation. In addition to sponsoring clubs within its organization, it serves as a gathering place for organized clubs and classes. Here, too, is provided housing for young women new to the city and in need of emergency housing.

The building provides rooms for 10 permanent guests and has room for six overnight guests. The rooms and kitchen privileges are given the residents for a fee of $12.50 monthly.

The YW is used by several organizations not connected with the YW for meeting places and these organizations by paying a small fee may arrange to have the use of the kitchen. Organizations connected with the YW have kitchen privileges without payment of any fee.

Among the outside organizations now using the YW for a meeting place are the WCTU, DAR, Business and Professional Prayer club, Friends Church and the Unitarian church.

The YWCA, which this year needs $15,000 from the Red Feather Drive to cover its deficit of the year, offers a varied program, aimed at training youth for leadership and developing tolerance for all races and creeds.

A number of clubs are organized within the YWCA with programs planned for each. Among the activities is the program for young adults. One of the special clubs organized under the YWCA is the young peoples' social group of boys and girls from Fairview home. This club meets every two weeks for dancing and small get-togethers.

Yearly social or semi-social events held by the YWCA include a tea for new members in the spring (the active membership list of the organization now is about 300); the smorgasbord held in November celebrating fellowship and prayer week and International week; and the hanging of the greens at Christmas time.

In the past years summer camps have been held for the girls but this year Teen-Treks were substituted. Longest of these trips was one made by 27 girls from July 18 to July 22. On this trip the girls were taken around the Mt. Hood loop and into the Metolius river area. Unorganized over night weekends at Camp Crestwood on Route 9, Salem, were also a part of the summer program for girls' group at the YW.

Atlantic Union Answer to Bomb

Chicago, Sept. 26 (AP)—Three scientists said today that there can be no agreement with Russia on control of atomic armaments and that the only alternative to war is the establishment of a supergovernment of the North Atlantic nations.

"And even then we might have war," Dr. Harold C. Urey, one of the leaders of the United States atomic bomb project, said.

Dr. Samuel K. Allison, director of the U. of C. institute of nuclear studies, and Dr. Leo Szilard, professor of Bio-physics at the U. of C., agreed with Urey at a news conference.

Any war would probably last at least ten years, the scientists said.

"Anyone who thinks it would end in ten minutes is making a terrible mistake," Urey added.

Dr. Thorfin R. Hogness, director of the University of Chicago's institute of radio-biology and bio-physics, said, however, that the possibility of agreement between Russia and the United States should not be entirely discounted without further attempts.

"Although we'd have to concede even more than we have been willing to so far," he added, "There isn't the slightest use of even discussing it with Russia now," Urey said. "We couldn't trust them anyway."

Urey said it might be a month or it might be five years before Russia has a stockpile of bombs comparable to that of the United States. There is no way of knowing how much uranium Russia has or how far its technological developments have carried it.

He said it is possible that Russia may even develop a bomb superior to that of the United States.

The news conference was held at the University of Chicago, where the U.S. atomic bomb was developed.
