

Columbia Plan Gaining Favor

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP)—Sen. Harry Cain, R., Wash., predicted today that the senate public works committee will recommend authorization of the army engineers-reclamation bureau coordinated plan for development of the Columbia river.

Cain said committee members have asked him and Sen. Warren Magnuson, D., Wash., to make a more specific estimate of the cost of the program than its present $1,000,000,000 price tag. The committee request, Cain said, was in the nature of a compromise.

But, he assured a reporter, any scaling-down of the present cost estimate would not affect the long-range significance of the program. It outlines a building program, divided between the two government water agencies, for controlling and exploiting the river.

The committee request, Cain said, was made at a closed-door session today attended by both Washington senators. He said he believed he and Magnuson could agree on a lower estimate which the committee would accept. He is the ranking republican member of the committee.

50 Expected at Methodist Meet

More than 50 preachers and as many laymen will be in Salem Wednesday for the Salem district Methodist church program to be held at Jason Lee church.

The program, according to announcement by Rev. Roy A. Fedje, district superintendent, will include the appearance of Dr. Ezra Cox of San Francisco, speaking on "Alaska," and Dr. Oliver Gill of the Forest Grove district, will discuss evangelism during the forenoon session.

Dr. Ira Gillette of Africa, Dr. Joseph Adams of Portland, Rev. Raynor S. Smith of Southern district, Mrs. H. Otto of Salem and Rev. Fedje have afternoon speaking assignments.

A mass meeting scheduled for the church during the evening will feature an address by Dr. Cox and another by Dr. Gillette who will conclude a lecture concerning his experiences as a missionary in Africa. Rev. Brooks Moore of Salem, William Hobbs of Sweet Home and George Huber of Albany are expected to appear on the program. Rev. Fedje will speak briefly during the dinner on some observations from Europe.
