

West Salem School News

By ANN GALLASPY

The West Salem junior high student body elected its first student body officers for the semester on Wednesday. Keith Johnson was elected president; Bill McCormick, vice president; Ann Gallaspy, secretary; Lloyd Walker, sergeant-at-arms; and Nancy Rust, Kay Stoddard and Linn Laswell, cheer leaders.

Shirley Wayt, Garth Miller and Karen Johnson helped with the balloting and Jerry Curtis, Gloria Gale and Lynn Morrey counted the votes.

Home room representatives were also elected in the home room this week. From Mrs. Ora Smith's home room, Jean Edwards was elected; from Quentin Aubol's room, Garth Miller; from Bill Hanauka's room, Kay Stoddard, and from M. L. Tweet's room, Earl McIntosh. Mrs. Virginia Howell's room has not yet elected its representative.

The girls' intramural volleyball tournament started Tuesday afternoon when the two ninth grade teams, captained by Shirley Wayt and Janice Coffel, played a game which ended with Shirley Wayt's team ahead.

Thursday Shirley Wayt's team again played. This time it met the eighth grade team, captained by Patsy Watson.

The other teams which have not played are from the eighth grade, Pat Ramsyer and from the seventh, Nancy Owens and Virginia Phillips.

Salem Heights School Notes

By JOHN HARVEY

Mrs. Gladys Farrand's first grade will begin finger painting this week.

Patty Peterson broke her nose at school Friday while playing. She is in Mrs. Jones' second grade.

Robert Hammond's sixth graders are studying plants and animals in science. They have several displays of plants.

Mrs. Denhem's fifth graders are studying social animals and have some exhibits of bees, hornets, honeycomb and a bird's nest that they found on the school grounds.

New students in the fifth grade are Shirley Warrenburg from Missouri, Diane Turrell from Washington, Charles Hamnerstad from Minnesota, Ann Swearingen from Pendleton, Ore.; Kenneth Clark from Salem, Dale Key from Lebanon, Jeannette Harrison and Alice Hampton from Liberty and Jerry Ross from Salem.

The fifth grade is making a scrapbook about Oregon, and is studying maps about Oregon. The same class made lavender sticks, weaving them in with raffia.

The sixth grade put displays on the bulletin board last week and the fifth grade did it this week.

Marion Miller has assigned jobs to the different grades. The sixth grade is doing the safety patrol work. The fifth grade is distributing the milk for the first and second grades. The fourth grade picks up the attendance slips.

New students in Mrs. Mildred Fenimore's third grade are: Bill Allen, Russell and Sue Bartlett, Jack Clark, David Hubbard, Erich Laetsch and Susan Swearingen.

Several limbs were cut off the tree in front of the school.

The play area between the wings of the building has been blacktopped.

The Salem Heights school handbook will be published soon.

Tokyo Rose Plans to Appeal Conviction for Treason

San Francisco, Sept. 30 (AP)—Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino today planned a fight to overturn her conviction for treason as the Tokyo Rose who broadcast to American troops during the war.

Her attorney, Wayne M. Collins, said he would file a motion in the U. S. circuit court of appeals for an arrest of judgment and a new trial. He said he also would try to get her released on bail.

If those motions failed, Collins planned a direct appeal on grounds that Federal Judge Michael J. Roche instructed the jury improperly and on other technicalities involving admission of evidence.

"I can't understand it. I can't understand it," the 33-year-old Los Angeles-born defendant muttered in a shocked voice last night as the jury of six men and six women brought back their verdict after deliberating four days to close the nation's longest treason trial in history.

The jury found her guilty of one of eight counts of treason. Roche told the weeping defendant to return to court Thursday, October 6, for sentencing.

The minimum sentence is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine or a maximum of death. However, the government did not demand the death penalty and it was believed unlikely the court would impose it.

During the reading of the verdict by Court Clerk James Welsh, Mrs. D'Aquino stiffened but kept her eyes riveted to the green blotter on the defendant's table.

Her frilly blouse appeared wilted and her hair was disarrayed. Her eyes were red-rimmed from weeping and lack of sleep. The dark plaid suit she wore throughout the 12-week trial hung loosely on her thin body. She had lost 30 pounds.

Of the eight overt acts of treason she was accused of committing, the jury found her innocent on the first five. But on the sixth—broadcasting about the loss of allied shipping on Leyte gulf—it found her guilty.

The last wild elk was killed in New York State over a hundred years ago. Wild turkey became extinct in the state at about the same time.

Mrs. M'Laughlin Passes at Home

Services will be held at the Virgil T. Golden chapel Monday morning at 10 o'clock for Mrs. Clema M. McLaughlin, resident of Salem for the past 40 years, who died at her home Thursday following a brief illness. Recitation of the rosary will be at the chapel Sunday night at 8 o'clock.

The widow of the late William H. McLaughlin, member of the Spaulding Logging company for many years, Mrs. McLaughlin was a native Oregonian, born at Halsey, September 26, 1888. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. James Lambert, who crossed the plains to Oregon in a covered wagon in 1849 and settled at Wheatland at what was known as Lambert's Landing. Later they moved to Halsey.

Clema Lambert and William McLaughlin were married at Dayton, Oregon, in 1888 and after their marriage first resided at Dayton. From Dayton the couple moved to Newberg and then to Albany from where they came to Salem. Mr. McLaughlin died in 1924.

Mrs. McLaughlin was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic church, and the St. Monica Altar society.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Lawrence N. Simon and Mrs. Frank M. Simon, both of Salem; two brothers, Charles Lambert of Seattle, Wash., and

L. A. Ex-Chief Wins Acquittal

Los Angeles, Sept. 30 (AP)—Former Police Chief C. B. Horrall, in a speedy trial, has won speedy acquittal on perjury charges.

Perjury and bribery charges against another officer, Lt. Rudy Wellpott, were dismissed yesterday by Superior Judge Stanley N. Barnes.

The judge indicated the grand jury had returned indictments against Horrall and Wellpott on insufficient evidence.

The court, however, refused to quash perjury and bribery charges against Sgt. E. V. Jackson, who was ordered to trial Nov. 14; nor perjury counts against Asst. Chief Joseph F. Reed and Capt. Cecil Wisdom, to be tried Nov. 9.

Ex-Chief Horrall retired recently in the midst of a furor kicked up by revelations that his vice squad had dealings with Hollywood bawdy house keeper Brenda Allen.

Adlai Stevenson And Wife Separate

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 30 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson said today he and his wife have separated and that he will not contest a divorce.

In a statement issued by his office here, the governor said: "I am deeply distressed that due to the incompatibility of our lives Mrs. Stevenson feels a separation is necessary.

"Although I do not believe in divorce, I will not contest it. We have separated with the highest mutual regard."

The Chicago Tribune said today conversations toward divorce were begun two months ago. It added that only a property settlement and a decision on where the action will be filed, remained to be agreed upon.

Stevenson, 48 year old democrat, is serving his first four year term, which ends in 1952. He was married in 1928 and has 3 sons.

Apple and Pear Market Meeting

Portland, Sept. 30 (AP)—A government program to help market surplus apples and winter pears from the Pacific northwest will be discussed here Monday.

The USDA said the government plans to establish an export subsidy and purchase program on apples, and a subsidy on winter pears. Production and marketing administration chairmen from fruit producing states will meet here Monday to discuss the purchase plan.

Young Linn Pair Taken in Custody

Lebanon—Two local boys, 15 and 16, were arrested Wednesday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff George Miller on charges of auto theft and parole violation.

The arrest climaxed a week long investigation by city police headed by Chief Cliff Price. Miller made the arrest since both boys live just outside the city limits.

According to Price, one had been home from the reformatory only 30 days, while the
