Ask Conference With Governor

Two CIO leaders will ask Governor McKay today to help keep Hawaiian pineapple barges away from Oregon.

The dispute over the barges "rightfully belongs to California," said George Brown, state CIO secretary, who requested the meeting with the governor.

Brown said in a statement following the meeting with the governor that the people of Oregon are being made the goals for a situation they had nothing to do with in the first place.

Governor McKay invited newspapermen to sit in on the conference "because I think the public should know what I say when I tell 'em off."

He also invited representatives of the owners of the barge to come to the meeting.

That the Portland Beavers might seriously consider a bid of $65,000 for the Salem franchise in the Western International baseball league and its physical property at Waters park was indicated Friday forenoon by William Mulligan, business manager for Portland.

The Salem committee, headed by Harry V. Mulligan said the tender would be considered and then asked for a meeting with the committee early next week.

While the full amount of voluntary subscriptions to the fund being raised for the purchase of the property was not made public, Bruce Williams, a member of the committee, said the sum was "more than anticipated."

North Fork Road Survey Studied

At the request of lumbermen and others interested in a proposed change of alignment of the road up the little North Fork of the Santiam, County Judge Grant Murphy has directed County Engineer Swart to resurrect an old survey made in 1913 following approximately the changes in the road which are now being sought.

The project involved is one sought by the lumbermen and several residents which would take the road across the river at a new bridge about two miles below the present Lumker's bridge and carry the road along the other side of the river from where it now winds along the mountainside. They say the proposed road would do away with steep grades and slides and pay for itself in maintenance charges alone in a few years.

Several of the lumbermen have signed a statement which has been filed with the court offering services of their caterpillars, men and other equipment to assist in laying out the grade for the new road.

They have now asked for a copy of the old survey so they will have a basis on which to work in asking land owners along that side of the river to donate right-of-way.

Engineer Swart said that he believes the old survey is still in existence and will make a search for it.

Hopkins Dies

Later, while the freight was on a siding for a passenger train, he flagged down the passenger train. Then he boarded the freight locomotive and introduced himself for a second time to Campbell and fireman Ben J. Mackowiac, 24, Portland.

After the train started, Hopkins began lighting fuses—warning flares—waving them in the air and discarding them. The engineer ordered him to a seat in the cab and told him to "take it easy."
